

FOUR FIRES CAUSE LOSS OF $34,000

2 Houses, Warehouse And Office Damaged

Destruction Of Principal Store In Wrightstown Causes $16,000 Loss

THREE FAMILIES HOMELESS

Fireman Exhausted After All Night Efforts—Two Fires In Lumber Yard

Fires in Appleton and vicinity Friday night and Saturday morning caused a loss of about $34,000 and made three families homeless.

In Appleton the loss is about $16,000 incurred in the burning of the Ideal Lumber company office and warehouse and two double residences. The principal store building in Wrightstown valued at $16,000 was destroyed, and another fire at New London threatened a shoe store which had suffered previously in the New London fire on New Year's day.

Besides the Ideal Lumber company, the residences at 1178 Lorain-st., owned by William Schulze, and 470 Harris-st., owned by William Cutler of Milwaukee, were destroyed.

It was under the most adverse conditions that firemen worked all night fighting the fires. The extreme cold weather furnished draft for the fire, and the strong wind fanned the flames to greater fury, thereby endangering the surrounding buildings. The men were encircled in ice as they returned after each fire to the station, and to respond to the call. Weary from their exertions they dragged themselves to bed Saturday morning after an all night task made all the more difficult because companies were undisturbed.

CITY IS FORTUNATE
It was fortunate for the city that alarms were not sounded while another fire was in progress, but came in just after the firemen returned from other fires. This fact and the excellent condition of the streets prevented what might have been a conflagration in Appleton.

More damage was inflicted in one night than is ordinarily caused in one year of fires. The total loss is between $15,000 and $20,000. The most serious of the losses was that in the destruction of office and warehouse of the Ideal Lumber company at Union and Hancock-sts. It will be necessary to tear down the ruins and erect an entirely new building. The damage is estimated at $10,000.

THREE FAMILIES HOMELESS

Three families and several roomers were made homeless by the fires which practically destroyed two residences, one at 1178 Lorain-st. owned by William Schulze and occupied by several teachers, and the other on Harris-st. owned by William Cutler of Milwaukee and occupied by the families of H. B. Little and Harry Bliss and by two girl roomers. The loss on the Lorain-st. house was estimated at $8,000 and the damage to the home on Harris-st. and the interior finishings probably was over $5,000.

Fires in two cases, that of the Lorain-st. home and the Ideal Lumber company building, started from the heating systems, but origin of the Harris-st. fire is believed to have been a short circuit in wiring in the basement.

The first alarm came from the Lorain-st. house shortly after 10 o'clock Friday night. After the firemen had returned from this fire and had the apparatus thawed out, there came at 3 o'clock the summons from the Ideal Lumber company. No sooner were the doors closed after their return from the second trip, when an alarm summoned them at 6:45 to the Harris-st. fire.

Farmers' Marketing Aid

More and more farmers are availing themselves of the "Live-stock and Vehicle" classification of "The Post-Crescent" want-ads.

A small ad inserted in this classification is the means of quickly finding buyers for horses, cows, turkeys, chickens, hogs, etc.

Observation shows that this classification is thoroughly read by farmers.

VETERAN WILL FACE GRAND JURY ON CHARGE OF BIGAMY

By Associated Press
Chicago—Adolph Guinness, war veteran and vocational training student on the payroll of the government, Friday was held to the grand jury on a bigamy charge, signed by Anna Purpass, an employee of the Veterans Bureau who said she married Guinness unaware that he had another wife in Madison. Marie Vance testified that the first wife in Madison now is receiving allotment checks from the government on Guinness' account.

MINERS GIVE DEPOSED CHIEF CHANCE TO PLEAD

By Associated Press
Indianapolis—Alexander Howat, deposed president of the Kansas Miners, and Thomas Myerscough of Pittsburg, Pa., who was expelled from the United Mine Workers of America on the charge that he was an officer in a dual organization—the International Progressive Miners committee—will be given a hearing before the appeals and grievance committee on Sunday. It was announced in the miners convention Saturday.

FORMER AIDE SAYS OREGON SOLD MEXICO

General Leaves Federal Charge Chief Betrayed Country To United States

By Associated Press
Brownsville, Tex.—President Obregon has "sold Mexico to American industrial interests in exchange for arms and ammunition," asserts a proclamation issued by General Francisco Coss, former Obregon leader who revolted Tuesday at Saltillo. Coss declared he would have remained loyal to the government had it pursued its efforts to subdue the revolutionists without calling upon the United States for aid and "selling the potential wealth of Mexico for arms and ammunition."

GUNBOAT READY TO START

New Orleans, La.—The departure of the Mexican gunboat Bravo for southern waters to attack the rebel ports of Progreso and Vera Cruz is imminent, the consul general here announced Saturday. A trial trip will be made on the Mississippi river Saturday to test out her new engines. Marines to complete the complement of the vessel are due tonight via El Paso, Tex.

WOULD-BE ROBBER SLAIN BY POLICE

Partner Of Slain Man Arrested; Victim Said To Be Resident Of Wisconsin

Minneapolis, Minn.—Cornered in the basement of a grocery store, here by a police gun squad, a youth was shot and killed and another was captured Saturday as the result of attempts by the pair to rob a safe, police announced. Letters found in the dead man's pocket bore the name of Peter T. Johnson of Burnett, Wis. The youth arrested gave the name of William Carson, 18, of Detroit, Mich. He told the police the slain man was 26 years old and was married. Authorities are trying to locate relatives at Burnett. The shooting occurred, police said, when Johnson drew a pistol as the police appeared. A charge from a shot struck him in the neck before he could fire.

CUTTING HAIR COSTS WOMAN THIRTY DAYS

By Associated Press
Minneapolis—For hobbling hair, Madame DeGulle, president of the national school of cosmetology and proprietor of a fashionable beauty parlor here was sentenced to serve 30 days in the city workhouse Friday by Frank E. Reed in municipal court. She was charged with a violation of the state barber law.

The charge against Madame DeGulle was "cutting hair without a state license." Operators of beauty parlors plan to make a test case out of the ruling, which will be appealed, according to an announcement by the defendant's attorney.

Madame DeGulle on the stand admitted "trimming" hair of her woman customers as a necessary part of arranging coiffures.

JAP PRINCE REGENT WEDS WITH ANCIENT CEREMONY

Tokyo—In accordance with ancient custom, the wedding of the Prince Regent Hirohito and Princess Nagako, eldest daughter of Prince Kuni, was celebrated at the Imperial palace Saturday morning with Shinto rites.

Heads Of Lincoln Victims Found In Concrete Block

Aurora, Ill.—Sealed in a concrete block on the city dumping grounds the police Saturday found the heads of Mrs. Lisa Lincoln and her brother, Byron Shoup, missing for nearly a year and for whose murder the woman's husband, Warren J. Lincoln, eccentric lawyer and horticulturist is in jail here.

A new confession by Lincoln that he killed both—although he previously had said he killed his wife in self defense after she had shot and killed her brother—led the way to clearing up much of the long mystery that has interested this county and has made in many days of contradictory statements only to end in Lincoln's return.

Illinois Mine Blast Claims Thirty Lives

SUPERIOR SPONGE SQUAD RAIDS HUGE MOON PLANT

Superior—A city truck was utilized by police Friday afternoon to bring in a liquor plant seized during a raid by the police purity squad and federal dry-agents from John Filsted. The truck was filled to overflowing with equipment. Two stills, one of 100 gallon capacity and the other of 75, were in operation when the officers arrived. The plant is capable of producing more than 35 gallons of liquor each day, it was stated.

WOMAN COUNTERFEITER GETS 3 YEARS AND FINE

By Associated Press
St. Louis—Mrs. Alice Sweeney, alias Mary Snyder, who was arrested four months ago, pleaded guilty in federal court Saturday to a charge of passing counterfeit $10 bills, and was sentenced to three years imprisonment and fined $1,250. She and her husband, who recently was arrested at Peoria, Ill., were charged with being members of a gang of counterfeiters in Chicago.

Coolidge Considers Cancellation Of Oil Leases Made By Fall

Roosevelt And Wahlberg Recall Saturday For Further Examination After Sensational Disclosures

Washington, D. C.—While the senate oil committee was seeking further light Saturday on the relations of former Interior Secretary Fall and Harry Sinclair, President Coolidge asked the interior department to submit to him expert advice as to the wisdom of the policy under which the Sinclair and Doherty interests secured leases from Mr. Fall for the oil reserves in Wyoming and California.

The president asked the department to furnish him at the earliest possible moment a report on the question whether the leases protect the interests of the government. The inquiry is separate from the instructions given the department of justice which is studying the evidence to determine whether there has been proof of fraud, but both actions are directed toward the same end, the purpose is to ascertain definitely whether the leases should be cancelled.

RECALL WITNESSES
With President Coolidge ready to initiate any civil or criminal proceedings shown to be warranted in connection with the leasing of naval and reserve lands, Archie Roosevelt and G. D. Wahlberg, former secretary to Harry P. Sinclair, whose testimony last week began a week of sensational developments in the senate public lands committee's inquiry were recalled Saturday for further examination.

Roosevelt asserted Monday that Wahlberg had told him he had seen cancelled checks of the Hyva corporation—a Sinclair concern—for $58,000 made payable to Thomas Johnson, foreman of the New Mexico ranch of Albert E. Fall, who as secretary of the interior, was in charge of the leasing of the reserves. Wahlberg denied this part of Roosevelt's testimony, saying he had been misunderstood when he mentioned the sending of six or eight head of cattle to the foreman. He also denied knowing of any money passing between Sinclair and Fall, but said he had regarded the transfer of a large block of Sinclair corporation stock and $25,000 in Liberty bonds to J. W. Zevely, Sinclair's personal counsel, as being in some respects "suspicious." Subsequently the committee learned from E. L. Doherty, California oil magnate that he had loaned Fall $100,000 on his personal note in 1921, about a year before he obtained a lease on a naval reserve in California, and Zevely testified Friday that Sinclair who some time previously had been awarded the Teapot Dome lease, had loaned

Fall $25,000 in Liberty bonds three months after his resignation from the cabinet. Zevely said he held the former secretary's note for the amount of the Sinclair loan, the bond having been made subject to his order for the purpose, but that Sinclair himself had no such document covering the transaction.

Fall is in seclusion under the care of a physician in Zevely's home, waiting to testify next Monday with reference to these and other aspects of his financial affairs, and the committee decided Friday to attempt meanwhile, to clear up the question of the alleged checks for $58,000 by further examination of Roosevelt and Wahlberg both of whom said last Monday that they had resigned from the employment of Sinclair.

FORD INVITED TO PRESENT MUSCLE SHOAL PROPOSAL

House Military Committee Requests Auto Magnate To Give Details

By Associated Press
Washington—Henry Ford will be requested to appear early next week before the house military committee to discuss his offer for Muscle Shoals.

The committee at an executive session Saturday instructed chairman Kahn to telegraph to the Detroit manufacturer that his presence was desired Monday or Tuesday and that he was to appear before the committee to discuss his offer for Muscle Shoals.

DISGUISED BANDIT ROBS CARBARN IN SUPERIOR

Superior—The Superior carbarn was held up and robbed of between $400 and $500 at 8:20 p. m. Friday by a lone bandit wearing a disguise. Two men were in the teller's office in the carbarn when the holdupman entered.

When the bandit entered, he ordered the men to throw up their hands and open the doors leading to the room where the money was kept. After gathering up his loot the man calmly walked out of the door.

35 Cars On Display At Auto Show

About 35 automobiles will be on display at the automobile show in Armory G from Feb. 2 to 5, according to O. C. Hoffman, Milwaukee who is promoting the show for Appleton distributors. Latest models of manufacturers will be placed on exhibition. The show will be one of the most complete in the state, outside of Milwaukee.

The front door of the armory will be enlarged to permit automobiles to pass through. Heretofore it was impossible to hold shows in the armory because cars could not be taken into the building but Mr. Hoffman has arranged to build a large transom over the main doors and a substantial driveway will lead from the armory floor to the street so the machines can be driven in.

Arrangements are being completed for the musical and vaudeville entertainment which will be among the features of the big show.

The exhibition will start Saturday noon, Feb. 2, and will close Tuesday night, Feb. 6. Salesmen will be in the armory at all times to discuss automobiles with interested visitors.

SELECT BOB'S DELEGATES TO G. O. P. MEET

Attorney Reynolds and Senator Cashman Nominated At Green Bay Conference

John W. Reynolds, Green Bay attorney, and Senator John Cashman, Franklin, Wis., were selected as nominees of the LaFollette faction for election next district delegates to the Republican national convention in Cleveland, Ohio, next June, at a meeting of LaFollette representatives of Ninth congressional district counties in Green Bay Friday afternoon. Congressman George F. Schell, Green Bay, was endorsed as a candidate for delegate at large. All the counties in the Ninth district, except Outagamie and Forest, were represented. The meeting was called at the request of R. M. LaFollette, Jr., the Farmer-Labor Nationalist.

The Farmer-Labor Nationalist endorsed Charles Butler, Green Bay, as chairman for the nomination but Mr. Butler withdrew in favor of Mr. Reynolds in spite of the latter's protests. Election of Reynolds and Cashman was made unanimous.

Mayor Wenzel Wessner, Green Bay, presided at the meeting and H. J. Sanderson, Sturgeon Bay, was secretary.

Y. M. C. A. CHIEF URGES CHANGES

By Associated Press
Madison—Reorganization of the Young Men's Christian association work in Wisconsin was recommended to the state Y. M. C. A. convention here Saturday by H. P. Lindsay, Milwaukee, state president. Changes in the policies of the state association and reorganization of the organization will be necessary under the plan, he said. No action was taken Saturday morning on the recommendation.

President Lindsay declared that the past year has been the most successful in the history of the state association.

Mr. Lindsay was reelected president of the association. Other officers elected follow:

C. B. Voorhies, Kenosha, vice president; E. A. Peas, Milwaukee, treasurer; and F. C. Pindley, Milwaukee, secretary.

HOUSE QUASHES MELLON ATTACK ON SPLIT TAXES

Washington—Secretary Mellon's recommendation that husbands and wives be prohibited from dividing income for purposes of filing separate tax returns as allowed in eight states, was voted down Saturday by the house ways and means committee.

Six Probably Fatally Burned And Eight Others Severely Scorched

CAUSE IS UNDETERMINED

Hundreds Driven Back From Attempted Rescue By Poisonous Gases

Johnston City, Ill.—Thirty miners were killed, six probably fatally burned and eight others seriously scorched in an unexplained explosion Friday on the main level of the McClintock coal mine here. Approximately 60 of the 75 miners at work were entombed in the lower levels of the mine but a few of them escaped.

A number of the bodies brought to the surface Friday night and early Saturday were burned beyond recognition and attempts to identify the dead were unavailing. Mine company officials giving up the attempt until a full check of the force could be obtained.

Company officials declined Friday to make a statement regarding the possible cause of the disaster. They announced that a thorough investigation would be made Saturday. The mine had been considered unusually safe insofar as gas explosions were concerned.

Rescue teams hurriedly organized in Johnston City and aided by squads rushed here from Herrin and Denton, Ill., made desperate efforts to save the trapped men and it at first was understood the men underground had telephoned to the surface that they were safe.

The hundreds of relatives and workmen gathered about the shaft in the bitter cold were totally unprepared for the announcement at midnight that 30 of the men had been killed.

CLOTHING BLOWN OFF
The bodies brought up bore mute testimony, as to the force of the explosion. The clothing had almost been blown away and all were badly burned, even the hair being scorched away.

Hundreds of men volunteered to brave the poisonous gases of the inner recesses after four Johnston City physicians had announced their intention to go down, but were driven back by the fumes which poured from the main shaft with such density that the faces of bystanders literally were blackened. The volunteers had to await the arrival of gas masks.

Among the known dead the bodies of Herbert McCullough, mine manager, and Jesse Ford, mine boss, were identified. Various organizations immediately began efforts to alleviate the suffering among the miners' families, their first work being serving coffee and sandwiches to the family groups and roomers standing in the zero weather about the mine shaft. Scores of women and children remained about the mine shaft from afternoon until after midnight, their faces purple from the cold whipped by a stiff wind.

CONWAY ELECTED TO GOOD ROADS OFFICE

Madison—C. Jacobus of Wauwatosa was elected president of the Wisconsin Good Roads association at a session here Friday night concluding at twelve of the annual state road convention. John Conway, Appleton, was named vice president; W. H. Reese, Milwaukee, secretary; and E. J. Perry, Fond du Lac, treasurer. Frank A. Cannon, Madison, was reelected executive secretary.

$500,000 DAMAGE CAUSED BY BLAZE

Connersville, Ind.—Fire starting early Saturday in the store of Green Drug Co. spread to the First National bank block and at 9 A. M., six hours after it was discovered, was still unchecked. Early estimates of damage were as high as $500,000. Aid of Cincinnati, O., and Richmond, Ind., fire departments was requested.

ORE DOCK CHIEF REWARDS FIREMEN FOR GOOD WORK

Ashland—In appreciation of the splendid work of the Ashland, Superior and Ironwood fire departments in preventing the total destruction of the company's ore docks here Jan. 16 Division Superintendent Leppa of Antigo, is presenting to each member of the fire department a check for $25. Members were given to understand that the amount given each man in nowise covered the obligation but it was a real token of appreciation of the work at a dangerous fire.

FAVILLE'S PEACE PLAN IS PRINTED IN CONGRESS BOOK

Proposal To Bring Peace To World Wins Fame From Former Appleton Man

Dr. John Faville, Lake Mills, former pastor of First Congregational church, has earned considerable fame through his plan to bring about world peace. His plan was entered in the Bok competition for a prize of $100,000 but his name rests on the action which the United States senate took on the proposal.

A copy of Dr. Faville's plan was sent to a friend in the senate and that body, by unanimous vote, ordered it printed in the Congressional record on Jan. 7, the day on which the Bok prize winning plan was released.

Dr. Faville will come to Appleton on Sunday evening Feb. 2, to discuss his plan before the Peoples forum. Dr. W. E. R. DuBois, noted Negro lecturer and educator, was scheduled to speak that evening, but was called to Europe and will be unable to keep his engagement. Dr. Faville consented to take Dr. DuBois' place on the program.

The Schola Cantorum of Lawrence college will present the program at tomorrow evening's forum.

THREE BOYS SOCIETIES WILL MEET IN Y. M. C. A.

Three meetings will be held in the boys division of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon. The George Williams club will meet at 2 o'clock and the discussion on home relationship will be under direction of Carl Engler. George F. Werner will give a talk on his recollections of Sir George Williams whom he met on a trip to England years ago.

The boys' meeting will be held from 3 to 4 o'clock. Attorney E. S. Godfrey will be the speaker and will unveil an autograph photograph of President Calvin Coolidge. Milton Yaner will render a saxophone solo. At 5 o'clock the HiT club will meet to organize its deputation team. This team will consist of speakers, soloists and quartets which will take charge of services for religious organizations the same as last year.

Hear Appleton Man
Several Appleton men heard Peter N. Hodgins, formerly of Appleton, give an address on postal workers and their salaries from the radio station at Denver Friday evening. The early part of his address same in clarity, it was said, but interference from nearby stations made the closing paragraphs indistinct.

Traffic Is Delayed By Snow Drifts

Traffic on the Northern Wisconsin division of the Northwestern railroad was held up the greater part of Friday because of snow which drifted in two trains. Early in the morning the southbound train due here at 7:30 was snowed in near Potato Point for three hours, holding the northbound mail train, due here at 8:33, at Appleton junction until 12 o'clock. This northbound train, pulled by two engines, got as far as Little Chute where one of the engines was disabled and in a few minutes it was snowed in and remained stalled until 5:15 Friday evening.

A snow plow was sent to Little Chute to clear the track and another engine helped pull the train out.

The northbound passenger train due here at 2:47 in the afternoon was held up until the track could be cleared but the southbound passenger, due at noon, was able to get by the stranded train.

Trucks have been cleared and trains are running close to schedule on Saturday.

LARGE CROWDS AT POULTRY EXHIBIT IN SPITE OF COLD

Eleventh Annual Show Ends Sunday—800 Kid Visitors On Friday

In spite of the cold weather the attendance at the eleventh annual show of the Fox River Valley Poultry and Pet Stock association which opened Wednesday night, has been gratifying. The show closes Sunday afternoon and it is believed a new record for visitors will be set. The show is open Saturday evening.

Between 800 and 900 children, accompanied by their teachers, visited the armory Friday afternoon. These youngsters of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, showed vast interest in the exhibits, especially in the unusual and strange birds.

Ribbons indicating prize winners have been attached to the cages by the judges. The quality of the birds exhibited this year was unusually high, it was reported.

The corn and grain show, which is held in connection with the poultry exhibit, also is attracting considerable attention.

Mrs. Frank Cuthin and daughter, Katherine, of Poplar, Mont., are spending a few days in Appleton visiting relatives.

START MOVEMENT TO COLLECT TAXES TWICE EACH YEAR

Tax Commission Officials Believe People Will Welcome Change

A movement to permit payment of taxes semi-annually is being started in Madison and is spreading all over the state. It is proposed to enact legislation which will permit collection of taxes in January and in July, thereby spreading the tax burden over a longer period.

Semi-annual payment of taxes is an advisable plan, Charles S. Rons, member of the state tax commission declared, commenting on the movement. He said that a similar plan is in operation in several other states and has proved to be successful.

Payment of taxes in two installments instead of one at the first of the year relieves the burden of paying out large sums of money at one of the most unfavorable seasons of the year, officials said. Under the plan, the tax burden is distributed so that payments are made early in the spring and late in the fall, when times are most favorable and money plentiful.

In states where the semi-annual payment plan is in force, officials declare that a larger percentage of taxes are collected, thus working to the advantage of the state. In Illinois, defaulting in payment of the first installment, defaults the taxpayer on the entire year's taxes, thus causing a greater incentive for the payment of the first half of the taxes.

A number of county boards over the state have adopted resolutions urging the legislature to enact measures which will permit semi-annual tax payments, according to information received here.

RECORD YEAR FOR BINGHAMTON DAIRY

1,374,087 Pounds Of Milk Delivered In Year—Make 31,350 Pounds Of Cheese

BY W. F. WINSEY
The past year was one of the banner years in the history of the Binghamton Cooperative Dairy company according to William Doffending, one of the patrons.

Not overlooking the loyalty of the patrons to their organization, the quality of milk furnished the cheese factory and the ability of the officers, the financial success of the company last year in a large measure was due to the quality of the product turned out by the cheese maker, John Seefeldt.

Before entering the employ of the Binghamton company, Mr. Seefeldt owned and operated a cheese factory in Seymour for eight years. After selling his property in that town, he operated a factory near Wausau for a number of years or until he was engaged by his present employers.

The main springs of Mr. Seefeldt's success in the Binghamton cheese factory are his experience in dealing with patrons, his ambition to succeed and his skill in cheese-making.

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the company, the retiring officers made their reports for the past year and the stockholders elected the following men as officers for the ensuing year: President, Frank Wislaff, vice president, Gustavo Sedo, secretary and treasurer, William Beyer and directors, Lester Schmidt and Charles Beyer.

31,350 LBS. OF CHEESE
According to the reports of officers, 1,374,087 pounds of milk were delivered to the factory by patrons last year and 31,350 pounds of cheese were made.

The cheese brought $7,284.06, sweet cream was sold for $420.08 and sour cream brought in $5,105.95. The total receipts for 1923 were $26,426.16 and total disbursements $26,171.77. The bank balance was $626.34.

LAWRENCE STUDENTS OVERWHELMINGLY FOR PRIZE PLAN FOR PEACE

Three hundred five students at Lawrence college are in favor of the Bok peace plan and 41 are opposed to it, according to a vote taken this week. The plan was explained by Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of the college, and the pamphlets describing it were given to the students. There was no attempt to influence the students either way and no debate on the subject, such as has been held in other colleges, took place.

At Ripon college out of the 295 votes cast, 271 favored the plan. At DePue the plan was given a majority of 97 votes. Similar student votes have been taken in all parts of the country.

TIPS FOR TAXPAYERS

NUMBER 23

While the word "depreciation" is not used in the revenue act, it provides that in computing net income there shall be allowed as deductions "a reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence."

In claiming depreciation, the following fundamental principles must be observed. Only such depreciation as results from the exhaustion, wear, and tear of property resulting from its use in business, trade, profession or vocation is allowed. Depreciation in the value of the taxpayer's home or property, such as an automobile used for pleasure or convenience, can not be claimed. Reduction of value due to changes in the social or business condition of a neighborhood, or change in street grade, or fluctuations of market value can not be claimed.

Depreciation in the value of land, whether improved or unimproved, can not be claimed. Depreciation may be claimed on all business property, which includes not only buildings, but machinery of a permanent character, automobiles, farm tractors, mine and mill equipment, office furniture, and books.

The value to be used for depreciation is the cost of the property. However, in the case of property acquired prior to March 1, 1913, the deduction shall be computed upon the basis of its fair market price or value as of that date.

Deductions for depreciation must be made as a separate item of the taxpayer's return and must be explained by showing separately each class of property, its cost at the date of purchase (fair market price or value as of March 1, 1913, if purchased prior to that date), estimated life, depreciation charged off for the taxable year, and total depreciation charged off for all previous years.

Study Money Power

A meeting of the religious committee of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of making preparations for a course of instruction on Sunday afternoons on "Money Power." The course will start about Feb. 1.

Are You a Weak Woman?

Health and Good Looks are Most Vital to You. Read What Mrs. Snyder Says.

Madison, Wis.—"For inward trouble I can highly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In my younger years I suffered so that I couldn't get around to do my work. For five months I was so weak I couldn't sit up to have my bed made. My people thought I was just about done for when a neighbor advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It surely did do wonders for me. It cured me of the feminine trouble and strengthened me in every way." Mrs. Mary Snyder, 444 W. Main St.

Holidays Galore In New Calendar Which Nations Hope To Adopt By 1928

Simplicity Is Keynote Of New Method Of Reckoning Time—Every New Year Will Start On Monday

New Year's day, this year, fell on a Tuesday.

But it will never happen again. Never again will there be a Tuesday New Year's. Once more, respectively, New Year's will fall on a Wednesday, a Thursday, a Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and then, forever after, on a Monday, beginning with 1928.

MAIN OUTLINES

All this will be due to governmental action in the various countries, similar to that which adopted the present "Gregorian" calendar in use after a conference of astronomers called by Pope Gregory XIII. in 1582.

Two years ago, in fact, the governments were ready, and the Vatican had actually called its "new" conference (after 400 years) for a needed simplification of the calendar and a fixing of definite dates and possibly of Easter and the movable feasts depending thereon. But, of course the main and certain thing is to make an easy, scientific calendar which everyone can carry in his head and so practically abolish the almanac.

The main outlines of it are known. It will give the year proper exactly 364 days, of exactly 52 weeks, divided into four quarters of exactly 13 weeks, each quarter having exactly like the others, two 30-day months, and one 31-day month.

NAMELESS DAY

Each year will be preceded by an extraordinary novelty—a holiday without a name, a Nameless day of rest and recreation, which will be neither a day of the month or of the week. It will belong neither to December nor to January. It will not make us a day older—time will simply stand still. The Nameless day will always be the last day of the old year and a Monday (which will always be the first of the new year). So, here will be three perfectly good holidays all in a string together, Sunday, Nameless day and New Year's day!

Another bit of all right is that Christmas will always fall, like New Year's on a Monday. Here you have

Use Your Bank Oftener

Get out of the habit of thinking that your bank is just a place where you carry an account; a place where you leave your money. Your bank, if it is a thoroughly modern institution, places a tremendously wide range of financial services at your disposal.

It would be difficult to explain the many ways a bank can serve its customers, as the service would of necessity depend largely upon the needs of the customer, but it is safe to say that your bank can be of value to you everyday you do business—sometimes many times a day. This bank is always glad indeed to have its customers call upon it for additional financial services.

WANT COUNTY BOARD TO MEET ON FEB. 12

A call is being issued among county supervisors to hold a meeting of the county board on Tuesday, Feb. 12. The call must be signed by a majority of the members before the meeting can be held on that date. It will be the final meeting of the year at which the unfinished business will be disposed of. The session probably will be the appointment or confirmation of appointments of dance hall inspectors in the various districts.

Snow Adds to the Problem Of Providing Telephone Service

After a deep snow, telephone service is often taxed to the utmost. At such times, people have difficulty in getting about town and more than ever rely upon the telephone.

Furthermore, when transportation is more or less tied up after a snow, it is difficult for the telephone operators to get to work promptly.

And heavy snow, if accompanied by wind, frequently tears down poles and wires, shutting off both local and long distance telephone service.

Uniformly satisfactory telephone service is our constant aim, but occasionally conditions arise which are temporarily beyond all human control. At such a time we especially appreciate the patience of our patrons until the situation can be met.

Twenty Years of Successful Automobile Building

January 28, Buick celebrates its twentieth birthday.

Proud as Buick is of its growth within the short space of two decades, it is not in its vast organization that Buick takes its greatest pride. Rather it is in what these attainments indicate.

Buick's position of leadership has been achieved solely by the accomplishments of Buick cars in the hands of more than a million owners. In their dependable performance, in their satisfying comfort, and in their year by year fulfillment of every demand of motoring, Buick cars have won the place they occupy.

From the rich background of experience—with all of its unequalled manufacturing facilities—and inspired by a deep sense of personal obligation to Buick friends, owners and the general public—Buick will seek ever to maintain on an even higher level the confidence of the public which it now enjoys.

ALBERT AND EDWARD

The naval oil lease cat is out of the bag. It jumped right out of the mouth. It was poked so vigorously from the outside it had to leap. Once a full view of the cat is had, it is found to be of the pure white variety. Edward L. Doheny carried the bag to Washington all the way from California. He took the southern route via New Orleans, so that former Secretary Albert Fall could take a last look at the contents before it was to make its exit.

Doheny loaned Mr. Fall the $100,000 to improve his New Mexico ranch. It was such a small matter that Doheny forgot to tell the senate committee about it when he testified before it recently. Fall also had completely forgotten it. In fact the incident had so far slipped his mind he told the committee it was Edward B. McLean, Washington newspaper publisher, who let him have the money. Later Mr. Doheny refreshed his memory and recalled the facts. What was a little matter of $100,000 to a man who is making million dollar loans to his personal friends right and left without security and to whom anything less than a million is "a mere bagatelle."

You see, it was this way. Doheny and Fall were lifelong friends. They played marbles together when they were boys and in the west they used to roam the mountains in search of adventure, and on Sunday attended church and class meeting arm in arm. It was a close relationship, almost a brotherhood, one might say. It brings the tears to Doheny's eyes as he reminisces on the witness stand about the old days when they were boys down on the farm. "Edward and Albert," a pleasing couplet for two such happy and faithful playmates!

Well, Albert went into politics and Edward into the oil game. It was the old story. Albert grew lean in serving the public and Edward waxed fat in serving himself. What more natural than that Edward out of his surfeit of prosperity should remember Albert in the days of his adversity. Christian people, and particularly the poor, will be touched by this magnanimity of friend to friend.

What does it matter that shortly after this demonstration of charitable affection Edward laid his covetous eyes on the rich naval oil reserves of California, from which he expects to make a cool clean-up of $100,000,000? There could be no possible connection between the unsecured loan and the document that Albert, as secretary of interior, signed to validate the lease. Both had, in point of fact, forgotten all about the loan. It was a meeting of minds on a strictly business basis, both seeking to serve the public interest. Gentlemen engaged in such worthy and important transactions do not let sentiment enter.

Colonel "Zev" is another philanthropic asset of the Sinclair company. We had no idea there was so much good will in the oil business. Here is Colonel Zev, just an acquaintance of Albert, presumably without the deeper attachment that existed between Albert and Edward and yet he loaned him $25,000 in Liberty bonds. It certainly should have warmed Albert's heart to realize what a lot of fine fellows there were in the oil game. Doubtless he wished he was in it himself. Of course Albert had no way of knowing that this $25,000 was direct from the funds of the Sinclair corporation. He naturally figured it was just a personal favor. About all there will be left for Albert to do when he goes on the stand again will be to radiate those charms of personality which caused Edward and Colonel Zev to treat him so magnificently, and the committee will understand. What a wonderful thing, after all, is a personality that makes others wish to stuff money in your pocket.

There are a few such men in the world, but only a few.

"DAUGHTER OF THE STARS"

The object of the North Pole expedition of the Shenandoah, Secretary of the Navy Denby told the house committee on naval affairs, is to discover and claim that vast extent of untraveled territory in the far Arctic zone. The American flag was planted by Peary on or near the North Pole, and the point farthest north in the world is American.

Between the icebound limits of Canada and the top of the earth, beyond the Northwest passage, is believed to be expansive territory which is tributary to the North Pole. What seemed to be a new continent has been seen from the east and the west, and there are scientific reasons on which to base the belief that a new habitable world will be found by some hardy explorer.

Lieutenant Commander Robert Bartless, who accompanied Peary on the successful expedition to the North Pole, entertained the committee with a plea which was far more descriptive and marine than Secretary Denby's.

"Hell's Bells," Bartlett exclaimed. What are we going to do with the Shenandoah—put it on the mantelpiece? Let's hang the Stars and Stripes on the North Pole."

If there is magic in a name, the Shenandoah's crew should be able to make a tentative survey of the new continent in the grim North. Shenandoah is an Indian word, meaning "daughter of the stars." Some of our greatest achievements are star-dreams.

THE VALUE OF HIGHWAYS

The part that highways play in the progress of civilization is well shown by the experience of Europe during the past 2,000 years. From the golden milestones in Rome great highways were built to the remotest bounds of the Roman Empire. Over them went the Roman soldier, and with him law and order. Over them went the Greek schoolmaster, and with him schools and colleges. Over them went the missionary of the Cross, and with him the church, hospital, medical science, and improved agriculture.

Present day halls of justice, schools, colleges and universities, great churches and cathedrals, and the maximum of population, wealth and culture, are found along the highways thrown out from Rome.

On that fateful July day, when the German thrust the point of his wedge between the English and the French at Chateau Thierry, and there was not a man or a gun to oppose their march to the English channel, it was the highways which saved Europe. Fifty miles away were forty thousand U. S. marines and other troops and a thousand American-made motor trucks. Due to the splendid roads of France, they arrived on time, and then "shock troops" of the German army were hurled back. The motor truck and the roads of France saved civilization.

If for twenty centuries the system of highways has been the mold into which sixty generations of Europeans have been run and have taken shape, who can measure the influence on American life of a national highway system, gridironing this land between ocean and ocean and connecting all the county seats of all the states? When the rate of speed on Europe's roads was but three to six miles per hour for passengers and two miles per hour for freight, the highway determined twenty centuries of history. What will be the effect on American life with highways which speed up the movement of passengers to twenty-five or even forty miles an hour and of freight to twelve or even thirty miles per hour, at the same time reducing the cost?

NEVER MIND THE PULSE

The clinical thermometer is an instrument of precision which has great scientific value in the hands of a physician or a nurse under the physician's direction or sometimes a patient under the physician's care it is an instrument of some practical value. For domestic consumption, however, it is about as necessary as an oil immersion lens or an astronomical observatory. The best use I know for a clinical thermometer in the home care of the sick is for stirring a little cold tea for the patient. I do seem to have a lot of queer notions—is that if anybody is complaining or actually sick it doesn't do anybody a darn bit of good to know what the temperature may be. Except under the immediate direction of the physician the use of clinical thermometer is not only not advantageous but too often it is disadvantageous in effect, because it causes needless alarm in a trivial illness, or on the other hand, it fails to arouse sufficient anxiety in a grave illness.

So much for taking the temperature without the order of the doctor. Next, naturally comes the pulse. Should the layman try to take the pulse? Well, as a general rule I should say no, not as a confirmed habit. A least not at least a tentative understanding of the ordinary layman sets about taking it. If one really must take a pulse it is well to study the technique of the thing and do a neat and workmanlike job, whether any one is looking or not. The first rule is to tie your thumbs up out of the way. Thumbs have caused no end of disasters in attempts to take the pulse. If you use your thumb you get your own pulse and the victim's all balled up; the effect would not be so dreadful if you were going to share the treatment with your victim.

I remember how morbidly I was affected by the discovery that I had no pulse in my left wrist. This followed not long after the discovery that I had no sense—no special sense, you understand—in my left ear. I began to ruminate upon the question of total left sided paralysis. But came a glad day when I found the pulse in my left arm working all right at a point about two inches outside the ordinary situation of the radial artery at the wrist. In fact back behind the thumb in the hollow known as the anatomist's snuff box. The moral of this is to keep your thumb out of the way when you're trying to take a pulse.

The simplest way for one to take his own pulse is to place the right hand on one's neckle in about the position one would assume to choke oneself. But don't choke. Let the hand rest there on your bosom, and gently place the left hand upon it with the fingers lightly clasping the wrist. Then if you are not too excited your finger tips will be right on the right radial artery and all you have to do is count the little throbs for a minute; anywhere from 60 to 80 of 'em will do very nicely for most folks. Should you fall to find any throbs, anywhere, just bear in mind how I worried along for years and at last learned that I was all right and it was just a slight deviation of anatomical arrangement that had been ailing me all along.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Doctor Too Busy

Please recommend a good doctor who will give me the best treatment for diabetes. Have been under the care of our family doctor for two years but he is extremely busy, and I feel that I am not getting the best results.—G. G.

Answer—Any competent physician can administer the insulin treatment—insulin is on the market and available everywhere to physicians.

Doping The Face

Please advise me whether the application of pure glycerine to the face every night will promote the growth of the least little bit of hair or fuss.—Ella C.

Answer—It would be rather irritating any such constant irritation tends to make the invisible language or down coarser and visible.

Tongue Tied

I am a boy aged 18 years and I am tongue tied. It has been late to have it cut would it be dangerous, does it require a specialist, and would it help me to talk better?—M. F.

Answer—Any good doctor who does surgery could do the operation, but it is doubtful whether your impediment of speech is due to such a cause. (Copyright, National Newspaper Service)

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Saturday, January 28, 1899

C. T. Totman of Chicago visited Appleton relatives. Miss Maggie Grignon visited her sisters at Kaukauna.

Frank Holbrook and Will VanNortwick were guests of Neenah friends for dinner.

Memorized daily papers suspended publication because of lack of support.

Governor Scofield reappointed Dr. H. R. Tanner of Kaukauna state inspector of illuminating oils.

Peter Wolf was called to Kaukauna by the illness of his mother.

Mrs. P. H. Ryan of Appleton and Mrs. Joseph Long of Menasha were guests of Mrs. J. I. Toner at Kaukauna.

Miss Lillian Titus and John Black of Kaukauna were married the previous Wednesday by Dr. Samuel Plantz.

Arrangements were completed whereby Third ward school basketball team was to play two practice games a week with Company G team.

E. L. Lillman & Co. completed a new sales stable building at Ashland which was said to be one of the finest of its kind in the state.

Feb. 15, 1899, was to mark the first anniversary of the blowing up of the battleship Maine.

The new officers of Joseph Haseman's band were: President, Louis Day; vice president, John Seidl; secretary, Robert McMillan; treasurer, Gus Meyer; manager, Charles Lausman.

Charles Collier was a Hortonville visitor the previous evening.

TEN YEARS AGO

Saturday, January 24, 1914

Dr. William Madison of Hortonville was in Appleton on business.

Attorney O. L. Olin of Clintonville called on Appleton friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schueller returned home to New Franklin after a several days visit with Appleton friends.

The J. T. Reeve circle, ladies of the G. A. R., entertained at bridge at the home of Mrs. H. W. Meeker.

Mrs. John H. Farwell of Kaukauna submitted to an operation for appendicitis at Theda Clark hospital at Neenah.

Dr. Samuel Plantz left for Milton Junction, where he was to be the guest of his sister for several days.

A considerable surprise was meted out to the student body of Lawrence college when it was announced that the tuition would be raised to two dollars per student for the second semester.

Appleton high school basketball team defeated Two Rivers high school team in that city the previous night by a score of 12 to 7.

AND THAT'S THAT

Dear Rollo Fans, no song have I to give you:
For "Jingle Bells" whose fame spreads broad and far,
Would ne'er submit to have its laurels taken
By tithinabulations of a tinnny car.

And just so long as my old nag is able
To shake a leg and make the sleigh bells ring,
Even though the tinkling's slow and most uncertain,
No song of rattling silver will I sing.

—Mrs. G. W.

For the benefit of the ignorant we wish to explain that Mrs. G. W. penned those lines following our request for a national anthem supplanting "Jingle Bells" and dedicated to the music of chain rattling silver.

FEBRUARY DUE FEB. 1

News has reached this office that February will arrive on Friday next. Preparation saves perspiration. So you had better begin now and wish your friends a cloudy hog day, which will be the day that the Appleton Auto Show crawls out. If you love your head don't repeat the joke about the butcher's ground hog. Get some rails to spit on Lincoln's birthday, give them to the county board which is due to meet that day and tell them to go to work. Make lots of enemies between now and Feb. 14 so you will get plenty of valentines. Quit shaving now and you will be sufficiently disguised for Mardi Gras. Save a good one for Washington's birthday. Send for our little booklet which tells you how to tell the truth. Get ready for Longfellow's birthday; that is when the first spring poet sees his shadow.

OH HEAVENS!

Tell her she dances divinely, and she is much pleased;
Tell her she is a little angel, she will not like it;

Tell her she dances internally, and she will be offended;
Call her a little devil, and she will think you're wonderful.

—Mrs. M. P. S.

This from the pen of Rodolf Valentino who has written a couple books. "Day Dreams" is the volume from which the following has been culled:

"I do not care for money made easily. It is not lasting—I know.

I do not care for friends made easily. They are not lasting—I know.

I do not care for anything that comes easily.

It never lasts—I know.

Yet I fell in love with you easily, But not lastingly—I know."

Now who do you suppose Rodolf meant by that?

ROLLO.

Literature Of World Is Taken
From Authority

(From The Minneapolis Tribune.)
After all, a large part of the world takes its literature, as it does its religion, from authority. A great genius sometimes needs to be recommended by a great critic. The latter may become sponsor, after the genius has passed away as Taine was for Balzac, or during the genius' lifetime, as George Brandes was for Ibsen. What would have been Balzac's fame, but for the championship of Taine? How would Ibsen have fared, but for Brandes' advocacy? Certainly the living career of the great Norwegian was affected, perhaps determined, by the cudgels strongly wielded in his behalf by the Danish critic, who recognized him for what he was and gave him a vogue without which he might not have been able to realize himself as fully as he did.

Ibsen is dead and Brandes is an old man, who is now relating intimate things about Ibsen, how he looked, talked, stormed, scoffed. The light thrown on the personality of that powerful talent is illuminated, Ibsen temperamental. Brandes says, was an aristocrat of the aristocrats, and the freedom he catered and fought for was the freedom of the mind, of the personality, not the freedom of the majority to assert its mediocrity, its crude opinions, its tyrannous restrictions.

Ibsen, according to Brandes, detested Bjornson and ridiculed his illusions. The two famous men of their old age, companions of glory, as it were. Their children intermarried. But their ideals were diametrically opposed, and their temperaments as unlike as could be. Their friendship resembled that of Goethe and Schiller, who were as unlike as these two were, who had been foes, but who by a magnanimity rare in literary or any other history, discovered their sympathy to be greater than their differences. Brandes says that, harsh as were the things that Ibsen said of Bjornson, they were not as harsh as the things that Bjornson said of Ibsen.

Ibsen was a great innovator and was mistaken by many of his followers for something he was not, until some of his plays, like "The Wild Duck, enlightened or perhaps bewildered them. Ibsen did not fight for the things that such men as Bernard Shaw and H. G. Wells stand for today. He had no advocacy for a social system, either democratic or socialist. He did not foresee "men as gods," made so by a mechanistic emanation; he was not so superficial. He did not consider, as Rousseau did before him, as Tolstoy came to as Shaw does today, that men are the victims of society, of class government. Men, so far as they are victims, he considered, are the victims of their own stupidity, ignorance, mediocrity, hypocrisy. Those things he attacked, not systems.

He was a greater intellect than the others of his time. His fame will endure longer.

Q. Where is the original of the trademark picture "His Master's Voice"? G. N. J.

A. The original is now in the offices of the Gramophone Co., Ltd., Hayes, England. The picture was painted from life by Francis Barrand, a French artist. It was inspired by a dog named Nipper, which belonged to Mr. Barrand's brother.

Q. How many men took the trip to St. Louis on the Shenandoah? J. C. Z.

A. About forty men made the trip.

Q. Is there a car made that is called the Buick-McLaughlin? T. O.

A. Such a car is made in Canada. A McLaughlin body is used with a Buick engine.

Q. What speeches did the late President Harding make on his trip to Alaska? C. C.

A. President Harding made many extemporaneous short talks but the set speeches were the following: The International Court of Justice, St. Louis, Mo.; Transportation Problem, Kansas City, Mo.; Agriculture, Hutchinson, Kas.; Law Enforcement, Denver, Colo.

Q. How long did whaling trips last in the old whaling days? C. O. K.

A. The old-fashioned whaler often took three or four years to gather its cargo of oil and whalebone.

Q. How many men in the Marine Corps? O. M.

A. New instructions have been issued, under which the minimum height for applicants is 65 inches and minimum age limit, 19 years.

Q. What are the columns surrounding the Lincoln Memorial irregularly spaced? J. H. S.

A. In the spacing of colonnades such as surround the Lincoln Memorial the outside columns are always spaced nearer together than any of the others and there is usually a variation in all the spaces. This is especially true of Greek Doric columns. One reason is, that it gives a more pleasing general effect and another is, that the view through columns along the side of the building shows the outline of the two end columns which would not be the case if spaced as wide as the central columns. These columns are not vertical but lean toward the building. The walls of the building itself are not vertical, the outside of them lean inward, at a slightly less inclination than the columns surrounding them.

Q. Was Captain Kidd an American? B.

A. William Kidd was born in Scotland about 1650, went to sea at an early age, and became a trader out of New York. He was, of course, a British subject, but for many years his fortunes were cast with those of the American colonies.

Q. What is a phenophor? J. W. B.

A. The Volta Bureau, an institution devoted to the interests of the deaf, informs us that the phenophor is a device for those who have defective hearing.

Q. What was the date of the beginning of the Spanish-American War? A. U.

A. The United States sent an ultimatum to Spain demanding her instant withdrawal from Cuba on pain of war. On her refusal, Congress on April 25, 1898, declared that a state of war between the two countries had existed since April 21, and the latter is the official date of the beginning of the war.

Q. When was there a great excitement over the second coming of Christ? F. A. B.

A. The greatest agitation due to the expectation of the second advent of Christ, took place in 1843-1844 due to the preaching of William Miller, who in 1831 foisted the end of the world on the latter dates.

Q. How fast does human hair grow? C. A. G.

A. The rate of hair growth varies from three-eighths to three-fourths of an inch a month until it has reached a length of from 12 to 14 inches, when the rate of growth is reduced one-half. Past this point it gradually ceases. Hair grows faster in warm weather than in cold and faster by day than at night.

Q. How many negroes are in business for themselves? H. J. J.

A. There are about 50,000 negroes engaged in business having a volume of $1,500,000,000.

Q. Why is the word maverick applied to cattle that are unbranded? A.

A. It is said to have originated with Samuel Maverick, a cattle owner in Texas, who did not brand his cattle as his ranch was on an island.

Q. Is the "Star Spangled Banner" the National anthem? T. P.

A. The Star Spangled Banner has never been legally recognized as the National anthem of the United States. Congress, as late as 1911, refused to declare it so by resolution. Its only official recognition occurred nearly a hundred years after it was written, when it was formally ordered to be played in the Army and Navy on occasions of ceremony. Its standing is undisputed in other lands, and whenever America is honored in music, this air is played.

Girls Take Sweeties To Club Party

100 Young Women At Leap Year Dance—Show Es-corts "Regular Time"

If the success of the first leap year dance of the season is an indication of the "success" of the woman's rights year, then—well, what makes a successful leap year anyway? More than 100 young women took their escorts to the dance at Elk hall which was given by sports council of Appleton. Many of them brought the young men in taxis just to show them how women do things when it is their turn. The rumors of a snow fight were verified when a chosen few of the young men were given the privilege of hitting all their old girls with crepe paper snowballs filled with confetti. Then the battle was on and there was not a person in the hall who was not showered time and again with the bright colored bits of paper. Black and white streamers were used for the decorations and a nice fan band stood guard over the snowballs until the time for the battle. The music furnished by the Mellorima orchestra was "peppy" and helped to make the party a success.

PARTIES

Miss Isabelle Schmidt, North Division-st, entertained 15 couples at her home on Friday evening. Music and dancing entertained the guests.

John Melzer, 749 Clark-st, was surprised Friday evening on his fourteenth birthday anniversary. Prizes at hearts were won by Kenneth Johnson, Orpha Owen, George Wolgast, and Mildred Schulz. The out-of-town guests were Carl and Helen Nagel and Jack VanLieshout of Kaukauna.

A number of young people from Freedom were entertained at a sleigh-ride party Wednesday evening to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Fox, Kaukauna, where they spent the evening. Dancing entertained the guests. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. William Daul, William Joseph and Verna Coffey, Thomas and Mayo McCann, Della and Marion Appleton, Frank Eberts, Norbert Daul, William, Chester and Marie Appleton, Lauretta and Joseph Schuh, Mabel Smith, Lester Huss, Sylvester, Joseph and Laurine DeBruin, Eunice Dooley, Clifford and Martin Arnoldsen and Bernard Rolf.

The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. entertained at a "Crazy Party" Friday evening at Lawrence college gymnasium. Prizes were awarded for the "craziest" single costume and for the "craziest" couple. The only requirements for attending were a "crazy costume."

WARMER TOMORROW, FORECASTER SAYS

Cold Wave Sent Mercury Down To 15 Degrees Below Zero On Saturday

The cold wave that reached Appleton Friday increased in intensity until 7 o'clock Saturday morning when the temperature registered from 15 to 13 degrees below zero. Schaffner's thermometer indicated the former figure. At 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon the mercury had ascended to 6 degrees below. At 6 o'clock Friday night the registration was 5 below.

A reaction from the cold will occur Saturday night and Sunday over the district west of the Mississippi river and on Sunday eastward to Michigan and Indiana and the indications are the change to warmer will continue quite generally on Monday. The forecast for Wisconsin is fair Saturday night and not so cold Sunday.

The weather outlook for the region of the Great Lakes for the week beginning Monday is generally fair and rising temperatures. First part snows with normal temperature during the middle of the week; and fair and considerably colder the latter part.

RESERVE SEATS FOR LIONS CLUB CONCERT

Seats for the concert by the Rhonda chorus of Welsh Singers in Lawrence Memorial chapel on Monday evening, Feb. 4, will be reserved at Bellings drug store beginning at 9 o'clock Monday morning. The concert will be under auspices of the Lions club which is raising $1,000 to purchase band instruments for children in senior and junior high schools. Lions are hopeful of selling at least 1,000 tickets to the concert. The response thus far has been excellent. The Welsh singers have scored triumphs in every city they visited and have numerous requests for return engagements. They will sing their second concert in Oshkosh next Tuesday evening. The Kiwanis club is sponsoring the visit to the Sawdust city.

'Cup' Given To Winning Group In E.L. Party

About 65 young people of Methodist Episcopal church and their friends attended the "indoor meet" the Epworth league gave Friday night in the church. Various games and stunts occupied the evening, and the group which won the most events was presented with what was supposed to be a silver loving cup by Dr. A. J. Holmes, but which turned out to be a tin cup. George Staley headed the winning team.

The events that comprised the "meet" included the standing broad grin, 25-yd dash, standing high reach, auto race, volleyball game with balloons, relay races, endurance drive and shot put. The guests were divided into groups, and each selected the members who were to participate. In the event the remaining members of the "winning" group that lost washed the dishes.

Lunch was served on paper buckets, picnic fashion. Robert Looklin was general chairman of the committee that made arrangements for the party.

35 Couples At Lions Dancing Club's Party

The newly organized Lions dancing club held its first party at the Pythian hall on Friday evening. It was attended by 35 couples. Several guests from Oshkosh and Green Bay were unable to reach the dance because of late trains. Music was furnished by the Valley Country club orchestra. The next dance in the series will take place in about two weeks, the date to be determined at the meeting of the Lions club on Monday.

AFTER AN OPERATION

Mrs. Wilke Couldn't Get Back Her Strength Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rochester, Minn.—"I had a very serious operation and it seemed as if I could not get my health back after it. I suffered with pain almost constantly. My sister came to help take care of me, and she was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for her nervousness and a run-down condition. She had me try some of it, and in a very few days' time I began to feel better. In two weeks I hardly knew myself and after taking a couple of bottles more I was up and helping around, and now I am strong and healthy again and am still taking it. It is a pleasure for me to write this to you, and I hope that many other women who are suffering like I was will find out about your medicine. I will give any information I possibly can."—Mrs. JAMES WILKE, 353 E. Center Street, Rochester, Minnesota. Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of fifty years of success among American women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

PASTOR IN WILL SUIT DECLINES TO TALK ABOUT CASE

Rev. W. P. Leek Prefers To Hold His Testimony Until Trial Is Started

By Associated Press

Fond du Lac—When a case is to be tried in court, it is always wise to avoid preliminary comment. I will, therefore, reserve my statement for the witness stand."

This was the reply of the Rev. William P. Leek, district superintendent of the Methodist church and former pastor of the Division Street M. E. church of this city, when asked regarding his side of the legal contest over the will of Miss Ella Schaefer launched on Thursday by Miss Sarah Schaefer, sister of the dead woman.

The will disposes of an estate of $36,000, and the Rev. Mr. Leek is one of the chief beneficiaries, being bequeathed the Schaefer home or $5,000. Several small legacies, are made including $1,000 to the sister, Miss Sarah Schaefer. The residue of the estate which will amount to $22,000 is given to the board of trustees of the Division Street M. E. church, of which the Rev. Leek is head.

The protest filed in Probate court here charges that the Rev. Leek and others at his direction exercised undue influence on Miss Schaefer in the execution of the will, that the will was not executed according to law, that at the time of drawing up the will Miss Schaefer was of unsound mind and that the will was the un-influenced free act of Miss Schaefer.

SHERWOOD MAN IS HOST TO FRIENDS ON BIRTHDAY

Sherwood — On Friday evening of last week about 45 relatives and friends of Mr. Casper Holzschue gathered at his home to help celebrate his birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in card playing and dancing.

Mr. A. Weiss of Hibert was a visitor here on Tuesday.

Joseph Deschler of Kenosha spent a few days here with friends.

Nick and Matt Maurer were called to Appleton Tuesday because of the sudden illness of their father.

Jack Stump, Henry Hoerke and Henry Stump, left for Milwaukee Tuesday to attend the auto show.

J. P. Strebe was a visitor at Menasha Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. August Koller have moved their household goods to Menasha where they will reside.

Mr. John Jarambowski was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Appleton last week.

BOY, RUN OVER BY SLEIGH, HAS KIDNEY REMOVED

Sheshoygan—Arthur Martens, 7 years old, is going through one of the toughest experiences a small boy ever tackled. He was compelled on Thursday to submit to an operation for the removal of one kidney. This was necessitated as the result of an accident while at play.

Arthur and some other children were coming home from school Wednesday afternoon. They tried to hook onto a farmer's sleigh. The youngster missed his footing and fell under one of the runners. His playmates thought he had not been hurt and so informed the farmer, who drove on. But Arthur soon began to show distress and he had to be taken home on a sled.

Physicians were called and found the runner had crushed one of his kidneys. An immediate operation was necessary and the child was rushed to the hospital. The surgeons say the operation was a success.

The Most Valuable Thing in the World.

Good health is the greatest blessing of humanity.

Do you and your children possess it?

The foundation for a lifetime of good health is laid in childhood.

Parents can do much to insure a career of happiness and success to their children by keeping them physically fit during their school years.

You can have a wealth of knowledge on the important subject of the health of your child without any cost to you. It is in a free booklet compiled by the American School Hygiene Association. SCHOOL QUINTET WINS FAST GAME FROM BRILLION

Kaukauna Forced To Extend Itself To Win From Visitors

Kaukauna—Two events of importance in high school history transpired in the high school auditorium Friday evening. Most important was the double victory of the high school teams, the girls' team defeating the Outagamie County Training school 3 to 6 in a fast contest while the boys' squad copped a well earned 17 to 15 win from the Berlin highs in one of the fastest and most thrilling exhibitions ever held here. It was a nip and tuck battle from start to finish and entirely devoid of the element of "luck." The Orange and Black displayed speed, exceptional teamwork and headwork which saved the game several times during the evening.

The other event, noticeable especially to those not attending high school, was the reawakening of enthusiasm on the part of the student body. For the first time in several years the students massed together and backed their team with unified cheering. Lack of school spirit has been a black eye to the student body. Members of the faculty expressed the hope that Friday evening's events mark the beginning of a new era in high school history. The hall was packed. Teachers and citizens were conspicuous among the crowds of students.

FAST PLAYING

Kaukauna led all the way with the exception of a few minutes before the close of the first half. At the end of that period Berlin was ahead 9 to 6. The visitors started the second period with another field goal but shortly after the locals regained their lead and held it.

The fight was fast and furious with but few fouls. No substitutions were made for Kaukauna. While every man played with every ounce of his ability, Bill Taylor, right forward, starred in floor work and in aggressive play. Hale and St. Mitchell as guards, provided few opportunities for scoring on short tosses. Kurt Beyer, left forward, distinguished himself by scoring on several difficult shots.

The visitors without question belong to a higher class in high school athletics than Kaukauna. The team was composed of larger men who also showed the results of careful training. They were a little lost on the floor at first but quickly adapted themselves to the place. A few of the visitors demonstrated their basket eye in early stages of the game but thereafter were so closely guarded in dangerous territory that they had little chance of scoring on sensational shots.

GIRLS WORK HARD

In the first half of the double-header the girls' team was forced to fight hard in order to tuck away an 8 to 6 win over the training school. A preliminary at 7 o'clock between the junior and sophomore teams ended with the juniors ahead 7 to 5. The win gives the third year team the championship of the school. The sophomores outlasted their rivals but had hard luck in locating the net. The second year men missed practically all free throws granted which alone would easily have decided the contest in their favor. The lineup for the main game was as follows:

Kaukauna—St. Mary court, No. 118, Catholic Order of Foresters, conducted its last dance before lent Friday evening in Elk hall. Music was furnished by the Electric City orchestra. A card party preceded the dances. Prizes at each party were won by Mrs. John Verbeten and N. M. Haupt and consolation awards were made to Mrs. George Buerth and Stanley Schmidt. Miss Ida Kemp won prizes at five hundred.

The regular meeting of the Odd Fellows was held in Odd Fellow hall Thursday evening. Routine business was disposed of after which a social hour was held.

Routine business was transacted at the regular meeting of the Elks Thursday evening in the Elk parlors. A smoker followed the meeting.

The first dancing party of the newly organized Married Folks Dancing club, was held Thursday evening in Hotel Kaukauna dining room. Three more dances are to be held and will be open to all married couples who have purchased a "season" ticket, which also represents the membership card.

KAUKAUNA MOVES SNOW OFF ROUTE 15

Businessmen Angered Because County Opens Only Part Of Highway

Kaukauna—The snow Thursday evening followed by the cold wind Friday created great drifts along the country roads. The snow plow of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. was employed early Friday morning to clear Highway 15 from the city limits to the sanatorium road. From that point to Appleton the road is kept open by the county highway commission. Several prominent businessmen are criticizing the county board for its decision at its last session in November to clear the highway from Appleton to the sanatorium. One of the main reasons, it is said, is to protect the county buildings against fire. The Kaukauna businessmen are asking whether it would not be cheaper for the county to clear one mile of road from Kaukauna to the sanatorium than to clear six miles as it does now.

The main grievance seems to be that Kimberly and Little Chute have access to an open road to Appleton shortly after a storm while the Electric City is left to find its own way out of the snow. "We're not necessary," the Thilmany company to say for the Electric City to have communication with Appleton it is probable road traffic between here and that city would be extremely light.

BEGIN TICKET SALE FOR ELKS' COMEDY

"The Little Lady" Will Be Produced In Auditorium Monday And Tuesday

Kaukauna—Tickets are being reserved at the Look and Brauer drug stores for the three act musical comedy "The Little Lady" which will be given Monday and Tuesday under auspices of Kaukauna Elks. Rehearsals for the show, which have been under the direction of J. A. Darnaby and Miss Helen Runyan, were transferred from the Elk hall to the auditorium where the production will be staged.

Members of the chorus include the Misses Helga Hall, Bernice Verschen, Hildegarde Regenfass, Helen Johnson, Anna Giesbers, G. Murphy, Ethelyn Handran, Carol Boorman, Grace Mulholland, Lucille Look, Genevieve Hoolihan, Anna Gibbons, H. Gibbs and Otto Runtter, John Parent, Brenzel Van Leishout, Milton Metz, Fred Mueller, Myron Black, Carl Chopin, Al Niescher, Edward McMorow, Edward Ludtke and Walter Kilgas.

The ballet is composed of Misses Hildegarde Werschem, Lorraine Dreier, Sylvia Nagel, Edna Sager, Anita Brenzel, Helen Martens, Helen Weitenbach, Laura Zwick, Cleo Bayoreon, Cordell Runtte, Dorothy Van Leishout, Lucille Lang, Eleanor Dietler, Jane Hilgenberg, Amanda Hald, Mabel Van Able.

MILLION IN BACK TAXES UNCOVERED

Test Cases Up Soon In Supreme Court—Declare Law Unconstitutional

Madison—More than $1,000,000 in back taxes on Wisconsin corporations has been uncovered by the state tax commission in field audits covering the last six years made during 1923, the commission reported on Friday.

The audit revealed unpaid taxes each month during 1923 as follows: January, $31,727.36; February, $55,136.42; March, $78,900.09; April, $22,732.11; May, $78,773.61; June, $52,914.15; July, $41,276.60; August, 202,551.45; September, $105,300.60; October, $19,096.86; November, $237,497.66; December, $143,821.85.

The total of back taxes collected last year shows a decrease of the amount collected the year before when a total of about $1,000,000 was reached. In 1921 there was collected in back taxes about $750,000.

Within a short time the Wisconsin supreme court will rule on the legality of the authority of the tax commission to go back in the records of corporations to discover and assess taxes that should have been paid. The question was argued before the high court in a number of separate actions started by individual corporations some time ago.

The law authorizing the commission to go back six years in the collection of taxes was attacked by the corporations as unconstitutional on the ground that it delegate legislative power to the commission in fixing the amount of penalty to be charged on delinquent accounts.

WIDOW AWARDED $5,800 FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

Oshkosh — The industrial commission has awarded $5,800 to Mrs. Rose Carter, widow of James B. Carter, as the result of an action started nominally against C. O. Ronning, but actually against the U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty company, which carried Mr. Ronning's compensation insurance. Mr. Carter was killed last summer while in a car driven by Mr. Ronning. The commission ruled that at the time Mr. Carter was in Mr. Ronning's employ.

RICE LAKE OBJECTS TO KLAN BRANCH IN CITY

Rice Lake—The city council has authorized the mayor to take what steps they may deem necessary to keep away from this city, and to prevent the formulation of a branch of that organization here. It is said that members of the council were informed that plans were under way for the organization of a branch here. It is reported that one has been organized at Spooner, thirty miles north of Rice Lake.

U. S. OWES HIGHWAYS MILLIONS IN TAXES

By Associated Press
Washington — Owners of motor vehicles pay to the federal government in taxes each year more than double the amount spent by the government on account of federal-aid highway and forest road construction, together with all administrative outlays, according to Secretary Wallace of agriculture, who has charge of the administration of the highway funds.

Since 1917 the government has been collecting a tax on the selling price of motor vehicles, tire and automobile accessories, and also a tax on the use of passenger automobiles for hire. On June 30, last year $589,012,021 had been collected from these sources. Expenditures on highway by the government in that time totaled $244,882,216, or 45 per cent of the amount taken in.

GOOD SOLDERING IS ESSENTIAL TO BUILDING RADIO

Care Must Be Taken To Join Parts Solidly When You Build Set

One of the most essential factors contributing to the satisfactory functioning of a piece of radio apparatus is good soldering. Where electrical connections are made, not every person can solder well. The art is difficult or easy according to one's knowledge of what to do and how to do it. The simple rules given here will instruct those unfamiliar with soldering as to what to do and a little practice will bring perfection in the technique of doing it.

ADVANTAGES OF ELECTRIC IRON

An electric soldering iron will be found a handy tool, although good work can be done with the old-fashioned soldering iron. It maintains an even heat of proper intensity and is to be recommended where considerable soldering is to be done.

This iron when first purchased has a clean point covered with solder; in this condition it is ready to use. The greatest secret in soldering is to keep the iron well tinned.

The next essential is to have the iron sufficiently hot, not only to cause the solder to melt and flow freely, but also to heat the articles whose surfaces are to be joined together, so that practically the same heat as the melting solder.

If you have ever tried to solder a ground wire to a cold water pipe direct or to solder a splice in an antenna wire out of doors on a cold day, you probably failed unless you have a large very hot iron.

It is essential to have the surfaces to be soldered together clean and bright. Probably the easiest way to do this is by use of fine sandpaper or emery paper. The fourth essential is to have a proper soldering paste or acid or, in case of some of the more easily soldered metals, resin. The use of resin-cored solder is highly desirable in radio work as it does not corrode when left around the soldered joint. Fresh paste that has not been filled full of dirt and melted over and over will give infinitely better results than old paste. Use a small quantity of paste—just coat over the surfaces to be soldered by rubbing lightly with rag or brush covered with paste. After soldering, remove surplus paste while the surfaces joined are still hot. If left on, the paste in time will corrode around the joint and ruin it.

CORRECT WAY TO SOLDER

The order of events in soldering is as follows: Clean the parts where they are to be joined, tin the adjoining surfaces, place the surfaces firmly in contact, then apply the hot iron which has a drop of solder on its tinned end. There is no need to pile up the solder. Examine a good tinsmith's work and you will note the absence of lumps or "gobs" of solder, which add nothing to the strength of it. "Half and half" solder, so called, is probably best for ordinary work. It may be necessary when one of the metals to be soldered is iron, to use "acid" but this is rarely found in radio work. A special solder is necessary for aluminum.

Teeth Made To "Hear" Radio Concerts When Ears Are Useless

Daily, science is getting closer to the solution of the problem seeking some means of compensation for those lacking any of the human senses.

Radio is taking its part in this field, especially in its contributions to which the deaf—or at least the near-deaf—may be enabled to hear.

Even before the popular use of radio, deaf mutes have been able to tell what a person was saying by touching the vocal cords, or watching the lips. Now radio makes it even easier. For those who could not be taught to discern (talk by the sense of feeling or sight, many now "hear" it through use of what is called an osophone.

Such an instrument was invented a few months ago by an English scientist, but it has been left to H. Gernsbach, editor of Science and Invention, and Radio News, New York, to perfect this instrument for simple application.

Gernsbach's osophone depends on the transmission of radio waves in the form of vibrations through the teeth. The teeth, Gernsbach says, are more sensitive to the slightest vibrations than any other part of the body. Therefore, by adapting a receiver-form of instrument for the teeth, in place of the ears, and attaching it to a receiving and transmitting mechanism, he believes he has discovered the boon for deaf persons.

From the teeth, the vibrations are transmitted through the bony structure of the head to the auditory nerve. So that if this nerve functions at all, however slightly, the osophone will in a way restore his hearing. A special form of radio receiver between the osophone and the transmitting instrument. Just as a normal person puts a telephone receiver to his ear, the deaf "listener" puts the osophone between his teeth, to carry on a conversation.

Buy Good Parts When You Start Building Radio Set

This is the second of a series of articles by M. J. V. Fose on construction of radio sets. Mr. Fose is describing a set with two vario-couplers that has great selectivity and a wide range. This second article tells of the parts that are needed and the third article will describe the hookup.

Builders of radio sets are invited to send their queries to the Radio Editor of the Post-Crescent. Requests for information must be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

CONSTRUCTING AN EFFICIENT TUNER AND DETECTOR. PART II.

By M. J. V. Fose

Many a novice has gone wrong and fallen down on "this set" because he didn't know what parts were required to make a hookup work efficiently. I am going to describe the parts first and give you the list further on in order that you will make no mistake in your selection.

THE PANEL

Either bakelite or some other dielectric material that will prevent electrical losses should be selected. Bakelite is about the best for radio panels because it drills nicely and also can be given a dull finish by rubbing lengthwise with No. 60 sandpaper to take off the gloss and then the sandpaper should be dipped in oil and the panel given another rubbing. It is then wiped off with a clean rag and you have a beautiful dull finish so much desired by the radio fan. The width of the panel should be 7 inches and the length 18 inches, and 3/4 or 1-1/8 inches in thickness.

The baseboard can be made of veneered stock or of solid wood and should be more than 1/2 inch in thickness and should be as wide as the depth of the cabinet; to play safe say 6 or 7 inches wide by 17 1/2 long. This also will slip into a cabinet very nicely.

THREE DIALS NECESSARY

They should be either of bakelite or composition material. Two dials are needed to fit the vario couplers and one to fit the condenser. The couplers used in this circuit take 3 1/8 inch shafts while the condensers usually take the quarter inch shaft. The dials on the vario couplers can be either three or four inch as the reader desires but personally I prefer the 3 inch dials.

One vernier rheostat of good quality should be used. The vernier is absolutely essential. The Bradleystat has given wonderful results in this circuit. If a dry cell tube or (UV 199) is used the wire rheostat should be of the 30 ohm resistance winding while the Bradleystat will perform on either tube.

Eight binding posts are necessary. Obtain those that are lettered: "Aerial," "Ground," "A-Battery plus and minus," "B" Battery plus and minus, together with two plain posts to match for the output. If the marked posts cannot be obtained the plain posts can be marked with some sharp instrument so one cannot go wrong in placing the connections.

Two switch levers for the inductances and twenty switch taps for the primary of the vario-couplers are required or these can be purchased in one unit and placed on the panel by only drilling one hole.

A tube socket should be purchased after the builder has decided what voltage he wishes to use. If one has a six volt storage battery—any six volt battery will do—I would recommend a socket for the "UV200" tube as greater volume will be obtained by its use, however, on the other hand if one does not desire to go to this expense or has no battery of this voltage he can use a dry cell and purchase a socket to take the "UV199" tube. All the best sockets are made of bakelite and the one especially adapted to the UV-199 tube has a rubber base to absorb shock.

TWO VARIO-COUPLES

Two vario-couplers of the 180 degree variety are employed in this circuit and they should have a range of sharp signals. A 11-plate vernier will work equally as well in the circuit but the larger of the two will give you a greater range. The 23 plate should be rated at .0005mfd.

A variable grid leak and a .00025 fixed grid condenser are used in the circuit. A fixed grid condenser of the same capacity can be used and mounted on a piece of fibre or bakelite and a pencil mark leak can be made between the two connecting points of the condenser. Obtain a variable grid leak and condenser if possible, as tubes differ in requiring different leaks on the grid.

A phone condenser of .001 or .002 capacity can be shunted, that is, put across the two leads that go to the phones—this will be shown in the next article—but it isn't absolutely necessary and some sets work better without this, therefore one can leave this alone until he sees how the set is working before installing a condenser of this sort.

Twenty five feet of bus-bar wire (square tinned copper wire) should be purchased for the wiring of the circuit or, if one cannot obtain this, No. 14 or 18 copper wire will do the trick very nicely. Three of four lengths of "spaghetti" or unfinished cambric tubing will be necessary to cover the wires that carry the high voltage. This is for protection. In case one of the other wires touch a voltage wire it would result in the burning out of the tube, therefore it is best to play safe. Some amateurs cover all the wire with this tubing.

A small piece of bakelite, celeron, fibre, or hard rubber 2 1/2 inches wide by 5 inches long is suggested to mount the binding posts on the rear, but one can mount them on the panel if they so desire.

Here is a summary in a nutshell of what I have explained above:

- 1-Panel, 7 by 18 inches.
- 1-Baseboard, 6 or 7 by 17 1/2 inches.
- 3-Three-inch dials.
- 1-Bradleystat or rheostat with vernier.
- 8-Binding posts.
- 2-Inductance switches.
- 20-Switch taps.
- 1-Tube socket for UV 200 or UV 199 tube.
- 2-Silk wound vario-couplers.
- 1-23 plate condenser with vernier of .0005 capacity.
- 1-Variable grid leak and .00025 condenser.
- 25 feet of busbar or No. 14 or 18 copper wire.
- 4 lengths of "spaghetti"
- 1 piece of fibre or bakelite for rear binding posts.
- 1 cabinet to take a 7 by 18 inch panel.

Purchase these parts carefully and see that the plates of the variable condenser do not touch one another as this has been the downfall of many a good hookup.

Next week I'll give you a picture of the hookup and some tips on laying out the panel besides numerous other little "kinks" that make this circuit a successful one.

Editors Note—If you find it difficult to obtain parts mentioned above, a self-addressed stamped envelope will bring you the information. Address Radio Ed—Post Crescent

Radio Hints

A high aerial will pick up more radio frequency energy than a low one, but besides being able to pick up fainter signals will collect more static which may seriously interfere with reception.

To obtain the longest life from them, "B" batteries should be kept flat on their backs at all times.

Taking off the lead in from the middle of an aerial results in only half the aerial being used. The rest of the wire is simply holding up the aerial and offering any other assistance.

The caps on telephone receivers should not be unscrewed unless it is absolutely necessary. If this must be done to tighten connection, etc., be careful not to bend, or dent the diaphragm in any way.

A good horn is one which causes the diaphragm to radiate almost uniformly at all frequencies within the desired limits. This condition is more easily attained in a phonograph than in a loud speaker. In the phonograph the diaphragm is forced to follow the vibrations of the record except for the slight spring of the needle; while in the loud speaker the diaphragm is not impelled to follow the vibrations of the horn must fulfill this condition, and also help to cause the diaphragm to vibrate at a nearly uniform velocity when the same current at different frequencies is passed through the windings.

KEEP CONNECTIONS TIGHT ON RECEIVER

Perhaps that which is of utmost importance yet most frequently neglected in connection with a receiver is its upkeep. Nevertheless, care means just as much, if not more, to the efficient operation, and good appearance of a radio set as it does to an automobile. From time to time, all connections should be gone over to make sure that they are tight. The security and insulation of the antenna should be inspected as often as local conditions may necessitate. Ground connections should also be watched for corrosion. All dust and moisture deposits on the terminal surfaces of the filament and plate batteries should be removed frequently with a piece of cloth dampened with a weak solution of household ammonia and water. These surfaces should then be gone over with a dry cloth to remove all traces of moisture.

A Crosley Radio Message

In February 1920 Powell Crosley, Jr., then engaged in the manufacturing business in Cincinnati, became interested in radio. Production of radio apparatus was commenced shortly afterwards under the name Crosley Manufacturing Company. About January 1, 1923, Powell Crosley, Jr. and his associates acquired the capital stock of The Precision Company, one of the seventeen original licensees under the Armstrong patent.

Mr. Leonard H. Weeks, Minot, North Dakota, the only amateur in the United States consistently handling traffic with Captain Donald McMillan, North Pole, uses the $20 receiving set mentioned below.

The Ace Type V is well known as a long range Armstrong regenerative receiver. Stations from coast to coast are heard by owners of this set under ordinary conditions. Wonderful efficiency, simplicity of operation, and low cost are the chief factors in the growing success of the set. They are the features that have made it the most popular one-tube regenerative set on the market.

This set complete with all necessary equipment and one set of phones, exclusive of aerial.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRES-COTT, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

I hardly knew how I got home, although I must have been conscious enough of material things to drive my car, for I had no accident. I went up stairs and sat down in my own room, after carefully locking the door—just why I do not know but the idea was so stupendous that I wanted no interruptions while thinking about it.

How did Alice come with such a magnificent and valuable string of pearls, and having them, why did she give them to me? Could it be possible that she did not know the pearls were real?

I went back to the time when she gave them to me. I wanted again to understand and remember just what she said. I remembered she had given them to me the day that she had asked me to wear "something old and something new, something borrowed and something blue."

"When she handed me the pearls," she said, after I had exclaimed with delight over them, that she had come across a man who had purchased them for someone that he had cared for very much, and then as he had lost her he did not want them any more. She said she had found out how to obtain them through Betty Stokley, and knowing that Betty Stokley was abroad, I jumped at the conclusion that she had forgotten these beads, as I supposed they were from some foreigner who had arrived in this country and becoming hard pressed for money, had sold them to her.

"Did Alice tell me the truth? Did she really find some man who was desperate because he had lost the woman for whom he bought the jewels and who was willing to sell them to her as imitation pearls?" Or did she know that the pearls were real, and by driving a sharp bargain with the man, ask father for the generous check which he would have to give for them at bargain price?

One moment I was ready to cable her and then I was afraid that someone else would get the cable, or if she answered, someone other than myself might get it. I wanted to ask father if he knew anything about it, but again I was afraid. It didn't seem to me possible that dad would keep it all to himself that he was giving me, through Alice, a string of glorious pearls, a string worth over two hundred thousand dollars.

No, that wasn't like dad. He always wanted his gifts appreciated at their proper value, notwithstanding he was always very generous.

I felt I could never wear the jewels again. I would be afraid every minute that someone would take them from me. I knew now why it was that the man at the restaurant table had been looking at me so the time that Jack wanted to kick him. He probably was a pearl connoisseur. Over two hundred thousand dollars! How foolish for one in my position to have such pearls!

Adventures Of The Twins

Merry-Bill Mocking Bird

"Too wit, too wit, too wit, sweet, sugar, cane is good and sweet," sang a little bird blithely.

Nancy and Nick peeped through the cane stalks to see who was singing and saw a little gray and white bird sitting on top of one of them, singing as though his throat would burst.

"My, but you have a nice voice," said Nancy. "What's your name, little bird?"

"My name is Merry-Bill Mocking Bird," answered the little bird, not a bit frightened at seeing a little boy and girl so close to him.

"And where do you live?" asked Nick.

"Oh, most anywhere at all," answered Merry-Bill carelessly. "I was born in my mother's nest, snugly hidden in some Spanish moss in an old oak tree near a house in Dixie Land. I stayed at home until I was educated and since then I've lived 'most any place at all."

"Where you educated?" asked Nancy.

"What did you learn?"

"Flying and singing, and a few manners," said the little bird. "Although I a matraid I didn't learn any too many manners because I love to tease people so. Besides I can imitate any sound I have ever heard. That's where I get my name. I can mock anything from a cat to a sawmill."

"I know a bird that can do that," said Nick. "He called Casper Cat-Bird."

"Well I declare," said Merry-Bill. "Isn't that interesting, though? Casper Cat-Bird is my cousin and he learned a lot from me. He can do almost anything that I can do."

"Say, Mister Mocking Bird," said Nancy. "Can you go like a robin?"

"Can I, though? Just listen!"

"Cherren, cherren, red and sweet, red and sweet."

"Good to eat, eat, cat, cat."

"That's fine," cried the Twins, clapping their hands with delight.

"Can you go like a crow?" asked Nick eagerly for he was a crow.

"Can't I just listen?" said Mister Mocking Bird, and he went, "Caw caw, caw," exactly like Chris Crow out in the corn-field.

After that he gave a regular con-

WOMAN HOME BUILDER

Bethsville, O. — When there's anything to fix about the Swope household here Mrs. Eliza Swope, widow, 65, does it.

Between cooking and washing Mrs. Swope finds time to build homes. She is on her third dwelling here and has built several barns and frame structures. She draws the plans herself, orders the material and hires the help. But she works too. She wields a hammer, scales a ladder and totes a hod as well as any man. House painting and wall papering are her favorite jobs.

Yet Mrs. Swope never learned a trade. She just naturally took to it, after her husband's death.

MILWAUKEE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY PLANS AUTO TOURS

Chance For Persons Without Automobiles To See State's Beauty Spots

Automobile bus excursions from Milwaukee to beauty spots of northern and eastern Wisconsin will be conducted during the summer by the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Co. and will have no connection with the tours from Chicago which the Milwaukee North Shore line is promoting, according to information received here Friday. Representatives of the Milwaukee electric company were in Appleton recently arranging for that company's tours.

Excursions of various lengths will be planned, from one day to a week. The excursion tickets will include transportation, meals, hotels and everything else necessary for a comfortable and enjoyable trip. It is quite certain that Appleton will be on the itinerary of several of these excursions and it is possible that this city will be a night stopping place. Side trips to places of interest are contemplated in the plan.

The purpose of the tours is to give Milwaukee people who do not own automobiles an opportunity to visit the beauty spots of which they have often read and for which the state is famous.

WAIT THREE WEEKS FOR INCOME BLANKS

Internal Revenue Collector Says Income Reports Are Simplified

Although federal income returns are being filed, a number of persons who filed reports last year have failed to receive the necessary blanks. This may not be due to oversight on the part of the United States revenue office; it is more likely that the persons' names have not yet been reached in the mailing list, according to R. C. Fairbank, deputy revenue collector in charge of the federal office in the city hall.

Taxpayers should allow about three weeks for the blanks to reach them. If after that time they have not arrived, taxpayers may call for blanks in the local office. Persons who have never filed a return before but this year have sufficient to make a return, may call for a blank at the local office.

SIMPLER RETURNS by persons with moderate incomes has become much simpler since the introduction of this year of a new form printed especially for persons whose income is derived only from salary and not from business transactions or professional work.

Every person who in 1923 had a net income of $1,000, if single, or $2,000, if married, is required to file a return, regardless of what his exemptions for children and other dependents may be. Any one who has a gross income of $5,000 also must file, regardless of what his net income may be. Net income means that income which is left of the gross income after deducting taxes, contributions for charity, religion and education, and interest on personal indebtedness.

NORMA TALMADGE APPEARS AS ARABIAN DANCING GIRL IN "THE SONG OF LOVE"

Norma Talmadge has introduced another Hollywood novelty which it is predicted will cause an even greater furor among both feminine and masculine patrons of the theatre than the Sheik.

She has brought the Ouled Nail dancing girl to Hollywood. Of course, Norma is an idealized version of this strange creature of the Sahara, who in real life is very, very good, but dances very intriguingly. The Ouled Nail danger, say members of Norma's entourage will appeal both to women and to men.

Like the sheik who seized what he wanted in cave man fashion, Norma's Ouled Nail girl fights savagely to obtain the man she covets. And she gets him.

"The Song of Love," which is a drama of the Algerian Sahara, will be shown at the Elito Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Peace Plan Ballot

FOLLOWING is the ballot through which citizens are asked to express their approval or disapproval of the Bok peace plan. Stripped of details, it seems to propose that America enter the world court and cooperate with the League of Nations as a non-member nation, its representatives for that purpose lacking authority to bind the United States without act of congress. The Appleton Post-Crescent invites, in addition to the balloting, the fullest discussion of the plan as a good means of stimulating interest in relation to the world's greatest problem. What do YOU say?

THE PLAN IN BRIEF

Proposes:
1. That the United States shall immediately enter the Permanent Court of International Justice, under the conditions stated by Secretary Hughes and President Harding in February, 1923.

2. That without becoming a member of the League of Nations as at present constituted, the United States shall offer to extend its present cooperation with the League and participate in the work of the League as a body of mutual counsel under conditions which:

1. Substitute moral force and public opinion for the military and economic force originally implied in Article X and XVI.
2. Safeguard the Monroe Doctrine.
3. Accept the fact that the United States will assume no obligations under the Treaty of Versailles except by Act of Congress.
4. Propose that membership in the League should be opened to all nations.
5. Provide for the continuing development of international law.

PARIS NEWLYWEDS HAVE TROUBLE FINDING HOMES

By Associated Press

Paris — The lodging crisis is far from having passed in France. All newly married couples find it difficult to discover an apartment to suit them, even if they are prepared to pay a good price. Doctors and dentists are also among the sufferers as landlords having the possibility of choosing their tenants bar those who are bound professionally to cause annoyance to the janitors by having a number of visitors.

This advertisement in an evening paper shows to what extent a young doctor may be driven to find a place to carry on his practice.

"Young doctor, unmarried, in position marry, wants one of two rooms in a family apartment in the district. Would pay a high price."

GOOD ROADS MEAN PROFIT TO FARMER

A land owner in a southern state had a large property of many acres, a beautiful house, and a big peach orchard in bearing. Finally circumstances made it necessary for him to sell his property, which was valued at about $100,000. Putting it in the hands of some able real estate men the property owner received several calls from prospective purchasers. He met these purchasers at the railroad station, motored them six miles over a good state road, and a half a mile over a very rough and bumpy dirt road to his house.

None of them purchased. Acting on the advice of one of the real estate men, the owner spent $5,000 and made that last half mile as good as the state road. The property was sold at a price which included the cost of the road plus a profit on

The Small Or Large Investor's Chance

"America's industries have been built almost entirely by small investors." That is a stupendous statement but records prove it to be true. Look through Moody's Manual and you will find the conclusive proof. You will also find that nearly all the big money-making corporations of today were organized originally as small concerns. Trace their histories and you will find that about 99 out of 100 of these companies had difficulty in raising the necessary original capital and that—as a class—it came quite uniformly from small investors—a few dollars from this one, a few hundred from that one, and so on.

Our big industries were built, therefore, as a rule by originally poor men. In return, what have these industries done for these poor men? America has more rich men who have made their wealth than any other country—yes, than has the greater part of the remainder of the world.

The United States has more poor men who are laying the foundation of great wealth right now and more that are climbing the ladder of wealth steadily and surely than has any other country. It never could be and cannot become otherwise for generations to come. We have a tremendous country with practically immeasurable natural resources. All we need is the courage to apply the modern Aladdin Lamp of Initiative and action, and this great wealth is available for our comfort.

Wealthy men must, to play safe, diversify their investment and take advantage of new opportunity to plant or invest a few thousands in new enterprises at their beginning. The poor man or man of moderate means should plant a part of his savings in new enterprise when it is started—when such enterprise has the setting of a successful future career.

We believe you will agree—after having carefully gone over all of the facts—that in every sense of the word such an opportunity as is above suggested is offered by our enterprise.

Appleton high school Friday night clinched its claim on first place in the valley basketball conference by whipping Manitowoc 22 to 10 at Manitowoc.

The invaders took a 5 to 2 lead in the first quarter, and increased it to 11 to 5 in the second. The Manitowoc team played a ragged game throughout and didn't have a chance against the classy Appleton youngsters.

Early in the third quarter, the Shipbuilders staged a comeback and managed to raise the score to 12 to 10. In the invaders' favor, Scheurle caged the ball twice in rapid succession during the last two minutes of the quarter, however, and the period ended with the score 16 to 10.

In the final period Appleton closed down its defense and held the home team scoreless, while the Orange piled up six more points, and copped the game 22 to 10.

Appleton's second string started the evening by humbling the Manitowoc seconds, 14 to 9, in the curtain raiser. In the first half the home team gave a good account of itself, and held the invaders to 4 to 2 score. The Appleton youngsters, coached by Guy Barlow, hit their stride in the second half and easily distanced their opponents.

HOCKEY LEAGUE NAMES NEW CHIEF

Representatives of the Fox River Valley Hockey League Friday night met at the Neenah clubrooms and elected Gerald "Lardy" Brenzel of Kaukauna as president. He succeeded James J. Grace of Oshkosh, who recently resigned when he accepted a position at Albion, Mich. Mulligan, Secretary of Neenah was elected vice president.

Owing to the fact that several of the games scheduled earlier in the season were not played, the schedule has been changed slightly. The new program is not yet ready for publication as several members of the league were absent and their vote is desired before the changes are made definitely.

Large Field Of Speed Skaters Will Take Part In Championship Races

Fifty Individual Skaters Will Take Part In The Eleven
Events On Program

A large field of classy skaters is assured for the second Gold Medal skating tournament which will be held in Jones park on Sunday, Feb. 3, under auspices of the Appleton Post-Crescent. When the entry list closed Friday evening fifty skaters had entered the eleven events. Most of the skaters are entered in two or more events in their classes, making a total of 100 skaters in all the events. This is an increase of about 20 per cent over last year.

Numbers will be assigned the skaters at once and announcement will be made when the numbers are to be called for at the office of Post-Crescent. The program of races and heats will be announced within a few days.

Classy fields are assured in all of the eleven events in the program. The largest number of entries is in the 220 yard dash of the junior class in which 15 boys are to take part.

Junior 220 yard dash—13.
Junior 440 yard dash—10.
Intermediate 440 yard dash—11.
Intermediate 880 yard dash—11.
Junior girls 220 yard dash—5.
Junior girls 440 yard dash—5.
Senior girls 220 yard dash—6.
Senior girls 440 yard dash—7.
Senior men 220 yard dash—9.
Senior men 440 yard dash—9.

Entries are larger than last year in practically all of the events and skaters are showing much more speed than they did a year ago. They have had the experience of one year and have put in every minute of spare time gaining speed on the ice.

Police protection on and around the rink has been promised by Chief of Police George T. Prim. It is believed that between three and four thousand will watch the races if the weather is favorable.

Gold and silver medals and the silver loving cup will be given to winners by Mayor Henry Reuter immediately after the races. Programs containing names and numbers of all participants in the races will be distributed in the crowd of spectators.

Officials for the contests are being selected with the view of making the races as snappy and interesting as possible. A. C. Denney, director of athletics at Lawrence college, is to be referee. Other officials will be announced in a few days.

Two hockey games are scheduled for Sunday afternoon in the Valley Puck chasing loop. Neenah will attempt to get revenge on Appleton for the 3 to 1 defeat earlier in the season while Oshkosh and Kaukauna are to cross sticks in a league encounter.

Marinette, the newcomer in the Valley conference, is lining up an attractive football schedule. The Northerners had no trouble hooking pigskin encounters with teams around the loop. Marinette has resumed athletic relations with W. Green Bay and, as usual, will meet the East Siders.

The Milwaukee all star bowling teams who jaunted out of the Cream City each week end are not very keen about invading the Valley. Last Sunday, the Millos stopped off in Neenah and Menasha and they were treated to a pair of decisive trimmings in alley arguments.

Uhl, the Sheboygan high basketballer wouldn't win a popularity contest in Manitowoc. The Chairmakers' clogging ass had a field day in the contest against the Shipbuilders, sinking five sensational baskets besides playing superbly on the defense. His passing was remarkable.

Dame Rumar has it that Tom Johnson's services as a football coach are in demand. His great success at Marinette has attracted considerable attention in gridiron circles. However, it will take a mighty big offer to pull him away from Marinette where he sure has 'won' a home.

The Fond du Lac bid for the 1925 state bowling tournament is meeting with some success in the pin classic, according to the gossip heard around the pin classic. Milwaukee is in the field for the affair but the majority of the bowlers are said to be pulling the way of Fond du Lac.

Northeastern Wisconsin bowlers will start cutting corners in the pin tournament at Janesville next week and with the high timber counts being registered by the boosters squads, it is safe to predict that the alley experts from that neck of the woods will out deeply yinto the prize money.

More indoor golf schools have been opened this winter than ever before in the history of the sport. Many noted professionals who formerly vent south for the winter are remaining behind to act as instructors in these schools. One of the biggest of

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Manitowoc—With an entry list approximately as large as in former years, the annual Wisconsin Elks' Bowling association tournament will open here Saturday night. Manitowoc Elks will place about fifty teams in the field, all of which will occupy the alleys the first week of the tournament. The closing date is March 3. Out of town teams will not bowl until Feb. 2.

Mayor Martin Georgenson will officially open the contest by rolling the first ball down the alleys. Prizes to be given total $2,500, equally divided between high scores and good fellowship.

Henry Burger, secretary of the state association, has received a challenge from Frank Burgess, editor of the LaCrosse Leader, who wishes to meet any 110 pound bowler in a series of games. Secretary Burger will try to comply.

Milwaukee—After trailing the Milwaukee normal basketball team, 22 to 6, at the end of the first half, Oshkosh staged a remarkable comeback and the final gun found the count 28 to 27 in favor of the visitors.

At the start of the half, Oshkosh began its rush and within ten minutes the score was tied at 22 all, and two more plays ran it up to 22 to 22. Here the Milwaukee team traced and from then to the end of the game it was a see-saw affair.

Manitowoc—With an entry list approximately as large as in former years, the annual Wisconsin Elks' Bowling association tournament will open here Saturday night. Manitowoc Elks will place about fifty teams in the field, all of which will occupy the alleys the first week of the tournament. The closing date is March 3. Out of town teams will not bowl until Feb. 2.

Mayor Martin Georgenson will officially open the contest by rolling the first ball down the alleys. Prizes to be given total $2,500, equally divided between high scores and good fellowship.

Henry Burger, secretary of the state association, has received a challenge from Frank Burgess, editor of the LaCrosse Leader, who wishes to meet any 110 pound bowler in a series of games. Secretary Burger will try to comply.

Milwaukee—After trailing the Milwaukee normal basketball team, 22 to 6, at the end of the first half, Oshkosh staged a remarkable comeback and the final gun found the count 28 to 27 in favor of the visitors.

At the start of the half, Oshkosh began its rush and within ten minutes the score was tied at 22 all, and two more plays ran it up to 22 to 22. Here the Milwaukee team traced and from then to the end of the game it was a see-saw affair.

Formidable Quint

What Notre Dame is to football, Creighton University of Omaha is to basketball if the claims of western critics are to be believed.

Two Big Ten quintets, one of them (titleholder in the season of 1922-1923, have already bowed in defeat before the Omaha quintet and perditions are numerous and confident that the Blue and White cagers will skim through the remainder of the schedule, including Nebraska, Notre Dame, South Dakota, Aggies, Marquette and other strong teams, without a defeat.

The Blue's decisive defeat of Iowa, Big Ten champs, at Omaha recently, score 36 to 12, stamped the Creightons as one of the most formidable teams in the country. Indiana has also taken the count at the hands of the Creighton crew.

U. S. Skater Wins First Olympic Race

By Associated Press
Chamonix, France.—The United States drew first blood in the 1924 Olympic games Saturday when Charles Jewtraw of Lake Placid, N. Y., won the 500 metre speed skating race.

Jewtraw defeated Gorman of Canada in the fifteenth heat. His time of 44 seconds flat was the best of any heat skated and under the rules made him the winner of the event.

APPLETON KEGLERS INVADERS GREEN BAY

First English Lutheran Brotherhood Sends High Men For Return Match

First English Lutheran Brotherhood of Appleton Monday will send its ten high men to Green Bay to clash with teams of the Grace Lutheran Brotherhood there in a return bowling match. The Baymen won the contest here by a close margin with Tracey and Hoppo starting. The local Lutherans were way off form at that time, and every one of them bowled far below his usual average. Since that time they have had considerable practice and show great improvement. After the games, the visitors will be entertained at a church supper in the parlors of the Grace Lutheran church.

Walter Vetzal, Orville Tornow, Carl Grem, Charles Hueseman, Gus Lemke, A. Pinner, R. Berall, A. Gauerke and F. C. Reuter are the Appleton men who will make the invasion.

Blues Beat Carroll In Extra Shift

Lawrence Friday night humbled the much touted Carroll college quintet, 20 to 18, in an overtime contest at Waukesha.

The contest was close all the way through, and at the end of the first half Lawrence led, 7 to 4. The game seemed for the rest of the tilt, but when the final whistle blew, the home team had managed to even up the tally, 16 to 16, necessitating an extra period, when Christoph missed his chance to score a winning point on a freethrow.

Zussman and Kotal scored a basket apiece in the overtime. Zussman made a sensational long shot for the winning basket, after Carroll had off set Kotal's fieldgoal with one of its own.

WESTERN PRO GRID SQUADS MAY DESERT

Rock Island, Ill.—If another reduction of the salary limit is not made by the National Professional Football league at its meeting at Hotel Sherman, Chicago, on Saturday and Sunday, the Rock Island Independents, probably will join the Green Bay, Racine and other western and northern members of the league in organizing a circuit independent of the eastern teams.

Most of the eastern clubs are stronger financially than the eleven west of Chicago, practically all of which lost money in 1923, and might be able to continue the existing salary limit profitably.

Rock Island, not having lost heavily on last season, is preparing to jump into another season with a much stronger lineup, which probably will include at least three new stars who won national fame last fall.

MAROONS ARE SET FOR INVASION BY NEENAH PUCKSTERS

Walter Bell Will Replace Percy Sharp Who Is Out With Injured Foot

Everything is all set for Neenah's invasion of this city Sunday afternoon, in the second home game of the Fox River Valley hockey schedule. The rink on the site of the former wading pool in Jones park is in fine condition, and Coach R. C. Jarvis has pronounced the Maroons fit to give the best of them a hard rub. The Appleton puckchasers have defeated Neenah once this season, and are looking forward to giving the Blacks another drubbing Saturday.

Percy Sharp, one of the speediest skaters on the Appleton team, is unable to play because of an infected foot. This will weaken the Maroons to a certain extent, but Walter Bell probably will be able to fill the fast wing's position with credit. Schultz, a substitute will take Bell's place, and as he has showed himself to be a classy player on several occasions little anxiety is felt over Appleton's prospects.

Poor Old Jeff Down To His Last $250,000

Los Angeles, Calif.—Recently the report got around that Jim Jeffries, former heavyweight champion of the world, was "broke."

This is not wholly true. Judged by modern financial standards, in the heavyweight division Jeff may be comparatively "broke," but he is not exactly flat.

Jeff has 100 acres of land out here in his wife's name and the land has an appraised value of $2,500 an acre. Messrs. Dempsey and Leonard would probably turn up their regular heels in contempt at these paltry holdings, but old Jeff, simple soul, seems perfectly satisfied.

SUPERIOR NORMAL FIVE BEATS RIVER FALLS, 19-15

By Associated Press
Superior—Superior normal defeated the River Falls normal Friday night by a score of 19 to 15. With this victory Superior remains in the running for the state basketball title, as River Falls was the only undefeated team on the locals' schedule. The game was hard fought throughout, but the visiting quints weakened visibly in the last quarter. The Superior team will meet Eau Claire normal at the latter place next Friday night.

"Respectable Poverty"

We all can call to mind one or more elderly couples whose income furnishes them a bare existence. In their younger days, perhaps, they were prosperous members of their community.

Bad investments, family misfortunes, and other circumstances have reduced their standing to their present state.

Old age Endowment payable at their present age would have allowed them to continue at their accustomed scale of living.

CAN'T PLEASE 'EM ALL. ENGINEER SAYS AS HE READS KICK

Connolly and Street Committee Puzzled By Attitude Of Appleton People

A local business man's criticism published in the Post-Crescent Thursday evening, immediately taking the department to task for not rendering the service on slippery sidewalks as in former years, brought an outburst of protest from several members of the street committee and from R. M. Connolly, street commissioner and engineer.

The extensive service rendered by the department in the past few years, the street men and passable seems to have left the businessmen blind to this business asset and capable only of picking out other flaws, it was intimated.

In an interview Saturday Mr. Connolly pointed out some of the huge difficulties that his department has to contend with in order to give the city the service it demands and yet complain about it.

The business man's statement to which the exception was taken is as follows: "Whenever there were slippery places on walks, people usually slipped on them with shoes or sand, and the city had its street workers treat the crossings the same way, but I have not seen it done to any extent this year."

DON'T NEED ATTENTION

The city engineer, speaking for several members of the street committee, declared that the crosswalks have not been mended for the simple reason that, at this time there are none that demand that attention. The walks have not been slippery enough to warrant a general coating of sand. Property owners are responsible for the condition of their sidewalks, but after a fall of sleet the street department has to clean up the entire city.

"All the crossings in the city have been well cleaned and the snow has been cleaned from every thoroughfare in the city limits," Mr. Connolly pointed out. "The city can boast of a radius of 50 miles can boast of the fact that Appleton has had, and this service, in the winter and summer, cost money and necessarily adds to the tax rate. People in neighboring cities are loud in their praises of Appleton's cleared streets and they make no secret of the fact that their own community cannot boast of such convenience."

MUST PAY FOR IT

"But," he added, "if the people of Appleton are willing and are able to have less service there is no doubt in the wide, wide world that the rate can be materially reduced. But the fact is that our citizens demand that the snow be removed, and one must assume that they are willing to pay for it in their taxes."

Mr. Connolly referred to the conflict of opinion between persons as to how much should be removed. The merchants on College street insist that the snow be removed down to the pavement and some of them even go so far as to threaten to file a protest to the council if the snow is not removed. Even before the department has had a chance to open the remaining streets in the outlying sections. On the other hand, the residents in the outlying sections bitterly resent that the snow must be kept open to make their way possible.

FIRE SHOWED NEED

"But only last night there were three fires in the city limits," the city engineer pointed out, "and if the fire department could not get to those places it would be a sad condition. In the meantime, the butcher, grocer and milkman must deliver goods to the homes, and as most of these people make use of the automobile, they must be kept open to make their way possible."

Tel what is one man's comfort, is another man's grief, it was brought out. While businessmen demand streets scraped to the pavement, farmers who must come over the hills to take their bridge to trade here, will have Appleton entirely and give them and Neenah their business.

"After each snow storm, the telephone in the engineer's office is busy all day with demands for snow removal. Everyone wants the crosswalks and streets in their neighborhood cleared. But this year there are no buildings in the city that have been denied the privilege of their use by the owners, or other authorities. These changes make a tremendous difference in the facilities of snow removal, greatly slow up the work and increase the expense to the city."

NO DUMPING PLACES

"Last year the city had many places to dump the snow, but this year it is necessary to haul it to the city dump. In other years the site of the Masonic temple, the Y. M. C. A., DeBauer filling station, the Lincoln school, and the Walsh vacant lot and other locations were used for snow. But this year there are no buildings in the city that have been denied the privilege of their use by the owners, or other authorities. These changes make a tremendous difference in the facilities of snow removal, greatly slow up the work and increase the expense to the city."

COLD AND SNOW KEEP FARMERS FROM FAIR

Saturday was fair day, but the grounds were deserted the greater part of the time. Not more than half a dozen farmers attended and they remained for only a few minutes. No buyers were present and no small pigs were offered for sale. These conditions were due to the cold wave and to the fact that most of the county highways are blocked with snow.

PIANO DUO UNDER 3-YEAR CONTRACT IN NEW YORK CITY

Maier and Pattison Play Third Number Of Community Series Here On Tuesday

The two-piano recitals which Guy Maier and Lee Pattison have given all over the United States and Europe and which they will give at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Tuesday evening have brought them considerable distinction as artists. The two-piano number is the third of the Community Art series.

The New York Symphony orchestra has engaged the pianists as soloists for three years for its New York season of subscription concerts. One of the numbers which they have played with the orchestra is the Bach concerto for three pianos, the third being played by Arthur Schnabel with whom they studied in Berlin before the war.

Recently the artists gave the opening program at the Hawaii theatre in Honolulu, a structure which cost a half million dollars. The opening of the theatre was postponed until the artists could return to Honolulu for the engagement.

It is probable that the artists will include in their numbers here Edward Burlingame Hill's "A Jazz Study." This selection has proved one of the most popular numbers not only with the audience but with the critics. Maier and Pattison, however, were the first artists to record for phonograph reproduction the classical piano music written for two pianos. Before their records made two piano numbers popular, the two instruments had been introduced only in dance and light numbers.

DR. ROUSE TELLS OF INTERESTING TRIPS THRU WILDS

Former Pastor Entertains Friends With Illustrated Lecture

The hazard of mountain climbing and the hardships endured in penetrating a wilderness hundreds of miles from civilization were depicted in an illustrated lecture by Dr. Frederick T. Rouse, former pastor of the Congregational church in the Congregational church Friday evening. He appeared here under the auspices of the Young People's Christian Endeavor society.

Dr. Rouse described three trips he made through the wilds of the great northwest and gave a thrilling account of some of his adventures. His first trip was from the headwaters of the Fraser river in British Columbia down 510 miles through a country that had been penetrated by very few white persons. Pictures of the trip were made by members of the party.

The adventurer purchased a canoe in which he placed his supplies but after going some distance he disposed of it and purchased a boat. This boat which contained all his possessions, was away when the life-ropes broke and was not recovered until two days later, during which he made slow progress along the bank of the river. In a greatly exhausted and nearly starved condition he came upon a German family, the only settlers he saw.

MET OLD FRIENDS

After giving him food the wife inquired where he was from and upon learning he came from Omaha said a man from that city by the name of Rouse sent them several magazines which was the only reading matter they had for several months. Dr. Rouse examined them and found they had been forwarded by him nearly a year previous.

The second trip was through the Olympic peninsula and to the summit of Mount Olympus. Pictures of the glaciers and of his party ascending the mountain and one where it had reached the summit were shown on the screen.

WOMEN WERE HARDY

The greater part of the trip was made over ice and snow and Dr. Rouse told of a young woman who was delayed in starting but who overtook the party after several days traveling alone and sleeping in a bag in the open at night. He said the women of the party stood the journey better than the men.

Pictures were shown of the members in camp. Bacon and ham were served for breakfast, dried fruit and chocolate for lunch and dinner was served when the pack train arrived late in the afternoon. The third trip was to Rainier national park. An attempt was made to ascend Mount Rainier which is of volcanic origin, but because of unfavorable conditions Dr. Rouse's party got no further than within 2,500 feet of the summit. The ashes from the former volcano has made the soil on one side extremely fertile and great areas are covered with sage brush and flowers.

DANGEROUS TRIP

The trip up Mount Rainier was exceedingly hazardous and members of the party had many thrilling adventures. Dr. Rouse presented many scenic views which included a popular Paradise Inn, a popular mountain hotel which during the winter is buried in snow nearly to the third story. In closing Dr. Rouse told of a fourth trip he made from the boundary line of Mexico north through Canada, Oregon and Washington to the boundary line of Canada. An automobile was used for this trip and his views included many of the scenic highways of California as well as some of its famous resorts.

DEATHS

STARTS AT FURNACE

When the fire trucks were thaved out, there came the call to the Ideal Lumber company, where the office and warehouse was being consumed by fire.

The Ideal Lumber company is with about 40 to 50 feet in size, but it is the height of a three-story building. A considerable quantity of finishing lumber was stored in the warehouse and has been rendered useless by the smoke and flames. Paints and oils stored in the building added fuel to the fire.

From the furnace the flames forced their way through the floors and to the roof, burning a hole way through the building. Two pumps and two deluge sets were put in operation to fight the fires, but the heat that could be done was to save adjoining property from ruin.

The Ideal Lumber company is with out office quarters of their own, but has been given temporary quarters in the Rowell Manufacturing company building just across the street. The fire at the lumber company evidently had a sudden start, for at 2:30 hardly more than a half hour before it was discovered, a policeman walked by, tried the doors and found everything in order.

The doors of the fire station were hardly closed upon the apparatus, when the men were summoned again. One of the trucks was temporarily out of commission for lack of hose at the time. But the other trucks were able to respond immediately although under handicap. In their frozen clothes the firemen went out again to do what they could at the fire which was raging in the Hardest home.

Mr. Bliss who operates the Appleton Army store on College street was the first to discover the fire. This was at 6:30. The other occupants in the house, the Little family and the girl roomers were around and brought out of the house by the firemen, but it was greatly marred. Clothes, rugs and other cloth furnishings were totally destroyed.

Here too the firemen were delayed by another frozen hydrant plug. Two loads of hose were laid to turn on the flames. The flames however had spread to each side of the duplex that house and left nothing but the outer shell. The entire house with the exception of the walls will have to be rebuilt.

VILLAGE THREATENED

The entire village of Wrightstown was threatened by the fire of unknown origin which destroyed the store building owned by the Miller estate and occupied by Albert Vanderhey. The blaze was discovered at 7:30 and continued most of the night. The village is without fire protection and drifted roads made it impossible to obtain help from neighboring cities.

Although calls for assistance were sent, without telephone communication with Wrightstown was cut off when a telephone pole carrying all the toll wires was burned to the ground. The loss of $16,000 is partially covered by insurance.

About 100 men acted as volunteer firemen, carrying buckets. Wrightstown residents declare the entire village probably would have been destroyed if the roof of the burning building had not remained intact until the fire had almost burned itself

CITY PROUD OF ITS GREAT CHORUS OF 140 SINGERS

Record Breaking Crowd Expected At Peoples Forum Program Sunday Evening

Great interest is being shown in the musical program to be given as a number of the Peoples forum at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Sunday evening. A certain amount of civic pride in this great chorus of 140 voices is being taken by the people as few cities even where there is a college and conservatory can boast of so large and so well trained a choir.

In all probability, the crowd at Sunday evening's program will be one of the largest of the season. An additional place in our Sunday school, Intermediate League at 6:45 P. M.
